Determined To Block Rockefeller

GOP Bloc Eyes Goldwater For '64 Presidential Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Conservative Republicans have begun a determined drive to keep the 1964 presidential nomination from going to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. Their favorite is Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

The Associated Press learned Monday that between 30 and 50 Republicans, from all over the country, met secretly in Chicago Sunday.

Possibly because it was an informal meeting, it still wasn't too clear what they did.

One report was that $250,000 was pledged as a start on a $3-million campaign fund.

Another report was that this was only an exploratory meeting, and that little definite was accomplished. One of the organizers said "I've attended dozens of meetings like this, and nothing ever came of them."

It was learned from several of those who were there that the sentiment was distinctly pro-Goldwater and anti-Rockefeller.

Goldwater said Monday night in Phoenix he didn't know a thing about the meeting.

He told a newsman: "I don't know who the group was, where they met or what it's all about. I did see or hear something about it today, but I don't know a thing. I still plan to run for the Senate two years from now."

But he added he might not "since things change and it's too early to be absolutely certain."

In New York, Rockefeller had no comment.

Some of those who attended the Chicago meeting also declined comment.

But Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, said: "The real purpose of the meeting was an effort to consolidate the Republican conservative groups around the country to make sure we have a candidate in 1964. Of course, Sen. Goldwater is the frontrunner.

"There are those of us who believe Gov. Rockefeller is the one Republican who could not win in 1964."

James D. Martin of Gadsden, Ala., who narrowly lost his Senate race to Sen. Lister Hill, is another who was there and didn't mind speaking out.

"I'm convinced the South would vote for Goldwater," Martin said. "He's the only one the South would vote for, right now, although somebody might develop during the next two years. Certainly the South doesn't want Rockefeller."

1. It was argued that if any Republican is going to make headway in 1964, he will have to make strong inroads into the South.

2. If the Republicans are to push ahead, the argument went on, they will have to have a full-time, paid national chairman. Miller receives no pay as chairman and has to divide his time between party and Congress. Presumably this subject—it's an old one in GOP circles—will be discussed again when the national committee meets here Friday and Saturday.

3. It's important, the conservatives agreed, that they keep a strong voice in the Senate. It was suggested that they back Sen. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska as chairman of the Senatorial Campaign Committee. Goldwater, the present chairman, has to step down since he is up for re-election in 1964.

One of those attending the meeting said that it showed discontent among conservatives at the way the Republican party is going. Rockefeller, he said, would only mean "a more and more powerful federal administration."

Wirt A. Yerger Jr., Mississippi state chairman, put it this way: "We're the conservative party, and we've got to have a conservative candidate if we expect to win."

Final Witnesses Heard

Jury Told Of Race Bets In Embezzlement Trial

Jurors May Get Case By Wednesday

Testimony Relates Checking Deposits Of Roberta Smith

By GLENN WAIGHT

Testimony on deposits Roberta Smith made in her checking account and her Waterford Park horse bets highlighted her embezzlement trial today at Lisbon as the case neared the Common Pleas Jury.

A friend of the 40-year-old exchief clerk of the city water department, who is on trial for a $23,840 shortage, and a bank bookkeeper were among the final witnesses placed on the stand by Prosecutor G. William Brokaw.

Testimony Slowed

As the pace of testimony slowed this morning, it became doubtful that the case would go to the jury before Wednesday morning.

Miss Smith of Fairmont St. has maintained that she "covered up" an $11,000 loss from the office vault in 1959 at the direction of Frank Robinson, then superintendent.

In her five hours on the stand Monday and last Thursday, she denied taking any money and said she did not believe Mr. Robinson was connected with the losses.

She testified she did not know how the additional $12,000 shortage occurred, which resulted in the total finding by a state examiner for the period 1959-61.

Miss Elizabeth McKeever, head bookkeeper at the Potters Bank & Trust Co., testified this morning that Miss Smith deposited some $1,371 in her checking account from the period 1959-61. Atty. Frank Springer, defense counsel, pointed out a withdrawal of $520 was made at one time. He requested additional time to study the records.

Accountant Testifies

Miss Shirley Hartt of Perry Ave., an accountant and a friend of Miss Smith, testified as a prosecution rebuttal witness that Miss Smith said she lost $46 betting at Waterford Park when the two visited the track one Saturday in 1960.

Miss Smith yesterday said she did not spend much at the park, "Once I spent $35."

Atty. Springer this morning asked Miss Hartt if she, as an accountant, trusted her memory on numbers. She replied she didn't and later said she thought Miss Smith said $46.

Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver of Oak St. clerk in the city auditor's office, testified on Miss Smith's salary. She said the defendant's take-home pay was about $247 a month in 1961. Robert Lippincott, state examiner, returned to the stand again for some detailed testimony on records for 1959.

Returns To Stand

Miss Smith returned to the witness stand again late this morning.

Closing arguments and Judge Joel H. Sharp's charge to the panel of three men and nine women were scheduled to follow the end of testimony. With both the defense and prosecution tentatively alloted two hour for closing arguments, Judge Sharp indicated that his charge to the jury would be made tomorrow, unless closing arguments are concluded sooner. The trial began Nov. 26.

Miss Smith testified late this morning that two deposits to her checking account were for two daily double bets she won — one for $400 and another for $200.

This was later used for a down payment on a car, she explained.

She said she also deposited other money in the account, apart from her paycheck money, such as money paid her by her family for things bought on her charge accounts at Pittsburgh stores.

$1.2 Million In Taxes Due City Schools

Budget Commission Advises Board Of Real Estate Funds

Property taxes will provide nearly $1.2 million next year for school operations and bond retirement, the Board of Education learned Monday night.

The figure was furnished to the board by the County Budget Commission at Lisbon, which set the millage rate for the school district, including Liverpool Township and portions of St. Clair Township, at 23.3 mills or $23.30 per $1,000 valuation on the tax duplicate.

Because of the property revaluation scheduled to appear on the new tax duplicate, the rate is a reduction of 1.5 mills. State law provides that voted levies must be cut back to produce virtually the same amount of money they would have yielded under the present valuation.

The school district valuation is expected to increase about $3.6 million from $47,530,000 to approximately $51 million, the board was told.

Voted levies will yield $982,514 while an additional $216,050 will come from 4.2 mills inside the 10-mill limitation, the commission said.

The income from the voted levies will include $766,464 from voted levies outside the 10-mill limitation; $169,754 for bond retirement, and $46,296 from the 1-mill repair levy.

The bond retirement fund includes $120,000 to retire school construction bonds and the remainder for interest on the bonds.

In explaining the figures to the board, Supt. Ralph W. Betts said the 1-mill levy will yield about $1,100 less than this year because voted levies can be reduced only in tenths of a mill.

Because millage within the 10-mill limitation cannot be reduced, the board is expected to receive about $15,000 to $16,000 more next year as a result of the increased valuation.

However, the board will end up with a net loss of roughtly $29,000 in 1964 when the 12½-mill charge-off is made on the increased valuation, Betts said.

Based on an increase of $3.6 million, the charge-off will amount to $45,000. With a gain of $16,000 from the millage inside the 10-mill limitation, the loss probably will be about $29,000.

The superintendent predicted additional funds from the state will more than cover the loss in revenue through the increased valuation.

The board also received the official certification of the results on two school levies from the County Election Board. School district voters approved a new 2-mill levy and renewed a 3-mill levy at the general election last month.

Impeachment Of Graham Is Asked Of Tarr

Apparently miffed over his refusal to authorize payment for two cruisers for the sheriff's office, two Hancock County commissioners voted this morning to impeach their fellow commissioner—William C. Graham of Chester.

Commissioners Lyle F. Virden of Pughtown and James Finley of Weirton asked Prosecuting Atty. Floyd R. Tarr "remove William C. Graham from office" and pressed for action on four different charges, including misfeasance.

Graham was unable to attend a portion of this morning's meeting in the County Courthouse in New Cumberland when Virden and Finley decided to initiate impeachment proceedings.

The three commissioners have been engaged in a running feud over bids received for purchase of two cruisers for the office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny.

Graham is scheduled for a hearing Dec. 14 in Circuit Court when Virden and Finley will seek a writ of mandamus to force Graham to sign checks for two vehicles from Hilltop Motors of Weirton. Graham claims he can save some $1,200 in taxpayers' funds by seeking more competitive bidding on the vehicles.

At this morning's meeting, Virden moved and Finley gave the second that the prosecutor take action to remove Graham from office.

Virden and Finley cited four specific charges against Graham —"payment without authorization of $2,250 to Kusic Motors of Weirton for payment of a Plymouth station wagon on Aug. 2; authorizing repairs to the Courthouse without authority; purchasing items from Graham Brothers store in New Cumberland for the County Jail without authority, and misuse of county funds."

Pros. Tarr, consulting the state code on such incidents, ruled it is legal for two commissioners to remove a third commissioner from office.

However, the prosecutor said he plans to review the charges to find if they constitute misfeasance, and will report to County Court at a later date.

Tito Greeted Warmly By Mr. K In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia got a warm handshake from Soviet Premier Khrushchev and the trappings of a state visit as his train rolled into Moscow today for what is billed as a vacation.

A guard of honor and a band were mustered out to greet the independent, neutralist Communist leader whose trip to Moscow has been furiously attacked by Peking commentators.

The stocky Tito rode into the station on the steps of the train and leaped off to grasp hands with Khrushchev with whom he has feuded ideologically on and off for a number of years.

Jaycees Ask City To Begin 'Master Plan'

Councilmen Pledge Study Of Finances Early Next Year

A large delegation of Junior Chamber of Commerce members appeared before Council Monday night to urge that the city provide funds as soon as possible for preparation of a "master plan" as a way of modernizing East Liverpool's community facilities and attracting new industry.

Councilmen promised a study will be made early in 1963 in an attempt to provide funds for preparation of the plan, which might cost $30,000 to $40,000. The City Planning Commission once considered preparation of a plan, but the idea died for lack of money.

Establishment of a recreation program and adoption of a building code and zoning regulations also have high priority, Councilman George E. Willshaw told the Jaycee delegation. Speaking as chairman of the finance committee, he said:

"We haven't been able to consider these things previously because of financial difficulties. But now we're getting out of the woods financially," a reference to revenue produced by the city income tax.

"We are here to urge support of a master plan for the city, which we feel is a necessity if East Liverpool is to progress," Lewis said. "We hope to be the best - informed group in East Liverpool on master plans.

"We ask Council to think about the matter and we promise 100 per cent co - operation in anything Council wants us to do to help in its adoption."

"I personally appreciate your interest and support and I feel most members of Council feel the same way," Willshaw replied. "I can assure you the master plan will be one of our major objectives in 1963.

'Free Parking' Rules To Apply Wednesday

Although East Liverpool stores will be open Wednesday until 5 p. m. because of the Christmas shopping season, metered parking will be free after noon, "Meter Maids" reminded motorists.

Metered parking also will be free after 5 p. m. Thursday, although stores will be open until 8:30.

It's part of a liberalized parking plan adopted by the administration in late November on recommendation of the City Traffic Commission. The policy calls for free parking after noon each Wednesday and after 5 each evening during the holiday shopping season.

Reshuffle Set For Reserve, Guard Forces

Sweeping Changes To Aim At Better Service In Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara orders into effect today a sweeping reorganization designed to whip Army Reserve and National Guard forces into better shape for service in cold war crisis.

Some of the strongest opposition was cleared away on the eve of McNamara's action when a House Armed Services subcommittee withdrew its objections.

The politically touchy plan — first major revamping of the 700,000-man Guard and Reserve in five years—involves breaking up eight low-rank infantry divisions and reforming them into more mobile brigades geared to respond quickly in emergencies.

It also calls for dropping about 730 missile units which the Army considers out of date or surplus. About half of these are in the Reserve, the rest in the Guard.

McNamara was set to place into immediate operation a reshaping of four Reserve infantry divisions and to cut from the reserve list about 365 or so company and detachment size units.

The defense secretary also was expected to recommend to the governors the Army's detailed proposals for reorganizing four National Guard divisions and eliminating about 365 lesser Guard units.

This reorganization probably will not result in any appreciable reduction in manpower, particularly since Congress has told the Pentagon to make its best efforts to keep Reserve-Guard strength at 700,000. The Defense Department had wanted to reduce this total to 642,000.

Grand Jury In Liquor Probe Is Discharged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A special grand jury imvestigating claims of influence peddling in the liquor department was discharged today because the foreman had a prison record.

Common Pleas Judge Robert M. Draper impaneled the jury six weeks ago at the request of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

For Congo, Mid-East Forces

Soviet Won't Pay Part Of UN Cost

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union has told the United Nations once more it has no intention of sharing the huge cost of U.N. forces in the Congo and the Middle East despite warnings that refusal could bankrupt the United Nations.

Soviet delegate Pavel M. Tchernyshev told the 110-nation budgetary committee Monday that the Soviet Union rejects responsibility for the two peace-keeping operations because they were approved by the General Assembly instead of the Security Council, where the Soviets have a veto.

"This has been and continues to be the position of the Soviet Union," Tchernyshev declared.

The Russian rejection came after Secretary-General U Thant and U.S. delegate Philip M. Klutznick both warned that the United Nations is headed for financial disaster unless members abandon political considerations and find a formula for raising the money.

The committee began debate on a U.S. resolution calling for acceptance of the World Court's opinion that costs of maintaining the two forces come under "expenses of the organization" that the U.N. charter says shall be shared by all members.

Thant asserted that the United Nations' financial plight "transcends political controversy."

"A financially bankrupt United Nations would be an ineffective United Nations," he said, "if indeed it could survive on such a basis."

The secretary-general recalled that member states have agreed that the United Nations is indispensable. To resolve its financial crisis would "represent a vote of confidence on its future," he said.

Klutznick said it was not a question of what was the right or wrong method of providing the money.

"What we now do must be guided by only one consideration—nurturing this institution," he said.

2 Frogmen Die In Effort To Break Diving Record

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Two frogmen, seeking a diving record, dropped 1,000 feet into the sea—and something went wrong. One man was fatally stricken and another, coming to his aid, vanished in the depths.

Both were Englishmen taking part Monday in an experiment to see if a secret mixture of gases could enable man to survive deep in the sea.

Killed was Peter Small, 35, a reporter for the London Daily Telegraph. He apparently died of the bends.

Small and Hannes Keller, 28, a Swiss mathematician and skin-diver, went down off Santa Catalina Island in a diving bell. The men wore frogman suits and air tanks filled with a mixture of gases devised by Keller. Water was pulled into the bell to equalize pressure.

The bell dropped to 1,000 feet, the men opened the hatch and dropped out two flags—Swiss and American. Plans had called for them to swim around at the tremendous depth.

Then something happened.

Whittaker went down to help, but vanished on his way back up to the surface.

His body was being sought.

Keller—who claims the world's diving record of 728 feet—apparently survived unhurt. He was treated at a hospital and released.

Small, who went down despite suffering the bends two days earlier in a 300-foot training descent, was a last-minute replacement for another London newsman, John Light.

Arrest Slated For Owner Of Raided Club

Prosecutor Says Constables To Cite William Watson

Another arrest is apparently in the making in the aftermath of a surprise raid on the Rio Club—a gaming casino behind the Cactus Bar near Chester — early Sunday morning by three Hancock County constables.

The law officers interrupted a barbut game when they forced their way inside the building and seized two slot machines, playing cards and dice.

The office of Prosecuting Atty. Floyd R. Tarr said Constables J. Carl Durham of Newell, Harold Davis of Chester and Sam Swain of New Cumberland, plan to file charges against William Watson, reputed owner of the club.

The initial step in the arrest process is the preparation of trial warrants, listing specific charges to be filed, the prosecutor's office said. Then, a hearing date would be set for the defendant to provide opportunity to post bond.

Watson was struck on the head by a pistol by Constable Durham, during a struggle inside while the raid was in progress but was not hurt seriously, the raiding party said.

Arrested was John Rushton of Weirton, alleged doorman at the club. Rushton is due a hearing Thursday night at 7 before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester on two charges.

Squire Allison issued the search and seizure warrants authorizing the three constables to "search, seize and arrest" at the Rio Club. But specific charges must be listed in trial warrants before the legal process of prosecution begins.

The constables confiscated a large quantity of gaming equipment and whisky. The tires on their cars were slashed by some of the angry patrons who were playing barbut when the raid was pulled.

Jaycees Ask City To Begin 'Master Plan'

A large delegation of Junior Chamber of Commerce members appeared before Council Monday night to urge that the city provide funds as soon as possible for preparation of a "master plan" as a way of modernizing East Liverpool's community facilities and attracting new industry.

Councilmen promised a study will be made early in 1963 in an attempt to provide funds for preparation of the plan, which might cost $30,000 to $40,000. The City Planning Commission once considered preparation of a plan, but the idea died for lack of money.

Establishment of a recreation program and adoption of a building code and zoning regulations also have high priority, Councilman George E. Willshaw told the Jaycee delegation. Speaking as chairman of the finance committee, he said:

"We haven't been able to consider these things previously because of financial difficulties. But now we're getting out of the woods financially," a reference to revenue produced by the city income tax.

"We are here to urge support of a master plan for the city, which we feel is a necessity if East Liverpool is to progress," Lewis said. "We hope to be the best - informed group in East Liverpool on master plans.

"We ask Council to think about the matter and we promise 100 per cent co - operation in anything Council wants us to do to help in its adoption."

"I personally appreciate your interest and support and I feel most members of Council feel the same way," Willshaw replied. "I can assure you the master plan will be one of our major objectives in 1963.

"We haven't been able to consider it previously because of fin-

'Free Parking' Rules To Apply Wednesday

Although East Liverpool stores will be open Wednesday until 5 p. m. because of the Christmas shopping season, metered parking will be free after noon, "Meter Maids" reminded motorists.

Metered parking also will be free after 5 p. m. Thursday, although stores will be open until 8:30.

It's part of a liberalized parking plan adopted by the administration in late November on recommendation of the City Traffic Commission. The policy calls for free parking after noon each Wednesday and after 5 each evening during the holiday shopping season.

Reshuffle Set For Reserve, Guard Forces

Sweeping Changes To Aim At Better Service In Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara orders into effect today a sweeping reorganization designed to whip Army Reserve and National Guard forces into better shape for service in cold war crisis.

Some of the strongest opposition was cleared away on the eve of McNamara's action when a House Armed Services subcommittee withdrew its objections.

The politically touchy plan — first major revamping of the 700,000-man Guard and Reserve in five years—involves breaking up eight low-rank infantry divisions and reforming them into more mobile brigades geared to respond quickly in emergencies.

It also calls for dropping about 730 missile units which the Army considers out of date or surplus. About half of these are in the Reserve, the rest in the Guard.

McNamara was set to place into immediate operation a reshaping of four Reserve infantry divisions and to cut from the reserve list about 365 or so company and detachment size units.

The defense secretary also was expected to recommend to the governors the Army's detailed proposals for reorganizing four National Guard divisions and eliminating about 365 lesser Guard units.

This reorganization probably will not result in any appreciable reduction in manpower, particularly since Congress has told the Pentagon to make its best efforts to keep Reserve-Guard strength at 700,000. The Defense Department had wanted to reduce this total to 642,000.

Grand Jury In Liquor Probe Is Discharged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A special grand jury imvestigating claims of influence peddling in the liquor department was discharged today because the foreman had a prison record.

Common Pleas Judge Robert M. Draper impaneled the jury six weeks ago at the request of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Soviet Won't Pay Part Of UN Cost

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union has told the United Nations once more it has no intention of sharing the huge cost of U.N. forces in the Congo and the Middle East despite warnings that refusal could bankrupt the United Nations.

Soviet delegate Pavel M. Tchernyshev told the 110-nation budgetary committee Monday that the Soviet Union rejects responsibility for the two peace-keeping operations because they were approved by the General Assembly instead of the Security Council, where the Soviets have a veto.

"This has been and continues to be the position of the Soviet Union," Tchernyshev declared.

The Russian rejection came after Secretary-General U Thant and U.S. delegate Philip M. Klutznick both warned that the United Nations is headed for financial disaster unless members abandon political considerations and find a formula for raising the money.

The committee began debate on a U.S. resolution calling for acceptance of the World Court's opinion that costs of maintaining the two forces come under "expenses of the organization" that the U.N. charter says shall be shared by all members.

Thant asserted that the United Nations' financial plight "transcends political controversy."

"A financially bankrupt United Nations would be an ineffective United Nations," he said, "if indeed it could survive on such a basis."

The secretary-general recalled that member states have agreed that the United Nations is indispensable. To resolve its financial crisis would "represent a vote of confidence on its future," he said.

Klutznick said it was not a question of what was the right or wrong method of providing the money.

"What we now do must be guided by only one consideration—nurturing this institution," he said.

2 Frogmen Die In Effort To Break Diving Record

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Two frogmen, seeking a diving record, dropped 1,000 feet into the sea—and something went wrong. One man was fatally stricken and another, coming to his aid, vanished in the depths.

Both were Englishmen taking part Monday in an experiment to see if a secret mixture of gases could enable man to survive deep in the sea.

Killed was Peter Small, 35, a reporter for the London Daily Telegraph. He apparently died of the bends.

Small and Hannes Keller, 28, a Swiss mathematician and skin-diver, went down off Santa Catalina Island in a diving bell. The men wore frogman suits and air tanks filled with a mixture of gases devised by Keller. Water was pulled into the bell to equalize pressure.

The bell dropped to 1,000 feet, the men opened the hatch and dropped out two flags—Swiss and American. Plans had called for them to swim around at the tremendous depth.

Then something happened.

Whittaker went down to help, but vanished on his way back up to the surface.

His body was being sought.

Keller—who claims the world's diving record of 728 feet—apparently survived unhurt. He was treated at a hospital and released.

Small, who went down despite suffering the bends two days earlier in a 300-foot training descent, was a last-minute replacement for another London newsman, John Light.

Arrest Slated For Owner Of Raided Club

Prosecutor Says Constables To Cite William Watson

Another arrest is apparently in the making in the aftermath of a surprise raid on the Rio Club—a gaming casino behind the Cactus Bar near Chester — early Sunday morning by three Hancock County constables.

The law officers interrupted a barbut game when they forced their way inside the building and seized two slot machines, playing cards and dice.

The office of Prosecuting Atty. Floyd R. Tarr said Constables J. Carl Durham of Newell, Harold Davis of Chester and Sam Swain of New Cumberland, plan to file charges against William Watson, reputed owner of the club.

The initial step in the arrest process is the preparation of trial warrants, listing specific charges to be filed, the prosecutor's office said. Then, a hearing date would be set for the defendant to provide opportunity to post bond.

Watson was struck on the head by a pistol by Constable Durham during a struggle inside while the raid was in progress but was not hurt seriously, the raiding party said.

Arrested was John Rushton of Weirton, alleged doorman at the club. Rushton is due a hearing Thursday night at 7 before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester on two charges.

Squire Allison issued the search and seizure warrants authorizing the three constables to "search, seize and arrest" at the Rio Club. But specific charges must be listed in trial warrants before the legal process of prosecution begins.

The constables confiscated a large quantity of gaming equipment and whisky. The tires on their cars were slashed by some of the angry patrons who were playing barbut when the raid was pulled.

Bald Mice Give New Hope For Baldness

HOUSTON, Texas—There is now an excellent chance that you can stop your hair loss and grow more hair, if your hair loss is caused or affected by the discharge of sebum from the sebaceous glands in the hair follicles.

Researchers found that when human sebum was painted on the skin of rabbits and mice, they lost their hair in 10 days! This discovery further confirmed the findings of a Houston firm, who for several years had been developing an entirely new concept in scalp treatment. A treatment designed to remove and control the harmful sebum that is continuously discharged from the sebaceous glands in the scalp. This new method has now been developed to the point where it is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

As a result, Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc. of Houston, Texas, is rapidly becoming nationally known. Results are so encouraging that they no longer even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe the treatment might help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself.

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to satisfy everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family", this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Regardless of what may be causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc. will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment might help you. Just send them information such as: how long your hair has been thinning, and whether or not you now have, or ever have had any of the following conditions: Do you have dandruff? is it dry or oily? whether your scalp has pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become oily or greasy? does your scalp itch and how often? and any other information you feel might be helpful.

All letters will be answered promptly. Send the above information and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., Dept. O-56, Box 66001, Houston 6, Texas. Adv.

Bald Mice Give New Hope For Baldness

HOUSTON, Texas—There is now an excellent chance that you can stop your hair loss and grow more hair, if your hair loss is caused or affected by the discharge of sebum from the sebaceous glands in the hair follicles.

Researchers found that when human sebum was painted on the skin of rabbits and mice, they lost their hair in 10 days! This discovery further confirmed the findings of a Houston firm, who for several years had been developing an entirely new concept in scalp treatment. A treatment designed to remove and control the harmful sebum that is continuously discharged from the sebaceous glands in the scalp. This new method has now been developed to the point where it is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

As a result, Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc. of Houston, Texas, is rapidly becoming nationally known. Results are so encouraging that they no longer even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe the treatment might help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself.

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to satisfy everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family", this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Regardless of what may be causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc. will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment might help you. Just send them information such as: how long your hair has been thinning, and whether or not you now have, or ever have had any of the following conditions: Do you have dandruff? is it dry or oily? whether your scalp has pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become oily or greasy? does your scalp itch and how often? and any other information you feel might be helpful.

All letters will be answered promptly. Send the above information and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., Dept. O-56, Box 66001, Houston 6, Texas. Adv.

Open Defiance Of The Law

A graphic example of the state of affairs in upper Hancock County was offered over the weekend during the raid on the Rio Club.

Open defiance of the law marked the incident, with threats being hurled and tires slashed on the cars of the constables who conducted the raid.

If there has been doubt in anyone's mind as to the need for a cleanup, it should have been removed with this latest incident. When a club's operator, its employes and its patrons begin to take over in the face of a legalized search, things have reached a deplorable state.

From eyewitness accounts, it was only by some stroke of good fortune that the affair didn't turn into a more ugly mess, with serious injury or possible loss of life.

An official report of the raid should reach the governor's desk at Charleston.

Also, those seriously interested in an end to illegal gambling undoubtedly could help their cause by bombarding Charleston with protests.

All Enemies Are Ruthless

This Dec. 7 will be the 21st anniversary of the carelessness that caused Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor to be successful.

The "day that will live in infamy," as President Roosevelt said it should, is remembered better than any other event in World War II.

But as time passes, Dec. 7, 1941, is being remembered more for U. S. fat-headedness than Japanese ruthlessness. It would have been hard for the Japanese to be anything but ruthless that Sunday morning. They were shooting fish in a barrel. They never dreamed it would be so easy.

To paraphrase Winston Churchill's comment on the airmen who saved Britain, never have so many Americans owed their deaths to so much official fat-headedness.

With only 100 planes and a few midget submarines, the Japs destroyed 177 U. S. planes and put out of commission temporarily or permanently the better part of 86 ships tied up for the forthcoming slaughter.

They could not have done more than a fraction of this damage or killed more than a handful of the men who lost their lives that day if the U. S. Navy, the U. S. Army and the U. S. politicians had been doing what they were responsible for doing.

The politicians are supposed to look out for the country's international relations and not be caught napping. They were sound asleep Dec. 7, 1941. The militarists are supposed to keep their weapons at the ready and not doze off at their sentry posts. They were remiss on both counts. They hadn't even come to when the Japs hit Manila the next day. The planes were lined up for slaughter on the ground there, too; all were wiped out.

The day "will live in infamy." But unless it taught the American people something, nothing will be gained by remembering it.

The lesson is easy: If you ask for a sucker punch, you will get it.

But it is hard to learn.

The United States is asking for another sucker punch. It is taking at their word spokesmen for a government that has no good will in it and is dead set on pushing the United States into oblivion.

Cuba could be another Pearl Harbor. All the elements are there if the United States asks for a sucker punch.

It assuredly will get one if it lets Russian spokesmen lull it to sleep the way the two Japanese gentlemen sweet - talked the Roosevelt ians into a coma right up to the moment their country launched its attack.

The infamy that Dec. 7, 1941, lives in is the incredible gullibility of the U. S. government. The United States cannot afford to turn its back in a dog - eat - dog world. Even its "friends" are capable of mad-dog antics.

The brightest thing the sometimes-not-too-bright Washington decision - makers could do right now would be to rename Guantanamo Naval Base "Pearl Harbor" and call the southern part of the Florida peninsula the "Philippines."

Twenty-one years later our politicians and defenders are tempting another ruthless enemy to knock us off. Aren't all enemies ruthless? Is there any other kind?

Confidence Must Be Earned

From time to time, candidates for office have leveled with voters by listing their financial interests voluntarily.

They have made the same disclosures about axes they might be tempted to grind as the U.S. Senate demands of appointive officials it is asked to approve.

One senator, Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, a Republican, thinks all members of Congress should disclose their holdings. He has a particularly compelling reason.

He believes Congress needs to earn confidence. He believes it has hurt itself by using a double standard — one set of ethics for appointive officials, another for elected officials.

Sen. Case does not demand that representatives and senators be forced to divest themselves of holdings that might generate "conflicts of interest," as is done with appointive officials. He asks only that they tell what their interests are, so their decisions can be judged accordingly.

It is a fair proposal.

Congress does need to earn confidence. Those who have been jealous of its good name and have defended it against critics who tried to degrade it are aware of its declining prestige. Popular appraisals of its motivation and procedure are not flattering.

The assumption is too easily and too often made that self-interest and bloc pressure are prime motivations and delay and side-tracking are standard procedure.

The impression is too easily gained that representatives and senators have no ideas of their own but only react to proposals of the executive and then mostly in a negative way as part of a contest of negativism whose object is to keep the White House from scoring.

How far has congressional prestige declined? So far that no one in his right mind would bet at odds of 1,000-to-1 that Sen. Case's proposal for full disclosure can get so much as a hearing.

40-40-40 Or Bust

By Truman Twill

Reports on the Rottenwollie have been falling off. This will bring her friends up to date.

We never have found out where she hid the squeeze bottle with the window-washing gunk. The secret will come out when she finally bites into it and gets a facefull of high-pressure solvent.

She now is 18 months old and beginning to grow up. She doesn't jump around as much as she did. When she was a pup, she would run to greet the head of the house when the car door was opened; you knew where she was. Now she sits still until the homecoming victim is out of the car and walking to the door in the dark. She lets him have it, a bolt out of the black, right across the thighs, then licks his face while he is on his back.

The tulip bulbs perplexed her. She never had seen bipeds burying treasures before. And in exciting quantities. If she could count above 10 she could keep score on how many bulbs to dig up before her work is done. As it is, she is still missing half of them, but it's all right. She is burying them somewhere else.

She has re-established her friendly relationship with the flock of sheep. During the summer, once she had grown used to the idea it was all right for the sheep to be out of the barn, she ignored them. Now she is back to her last winter trick of lying in the manager, letting herself be covered with hay, then jumping up to the surprise the first customer. It isn't as good a trick as it used to be, because she now is seven times larger than she was a year ago.

Her statistics are indeterminate about 40-40-40 or bust. Her height is not noticeable—only knee-high. Her width is the thing to notice—about the span of a 12-inch plank covered with two-inch curly hair.

The length of the hair is attributable to mixed ancestry—Rottweiler and collie. The length is collie and the color is Rottweiler—jet black with ginger ornamentation.

The feet are Rottweiler the size of saucers.

The eyes are meltingly collie, her disposition girlish and her strength that of 10. Speculation turns often to her weight, but the poundage never will be known because of her strength.

The burrs in her hair are too deep-seated to be combed out. The eye-glazing smells she rolls in are hard to locate. Everything must be cut out of her coat with scissors, whereupon the hole closes up like honey flows in to fill up the hole where the honey was dipped out.

This brings the report up to date, except for reach. She can clean all the frosting off the exposed side of a cake set 8 inches from the side of a table with one swipe of a limber tongue the size of a bib on a pair of red overalls.

She can ingest a pound of cheese that just happened to fall off a kitchen shelf into her mouth, without stopping to catch her breath. She is an armful, our Rottwollie.

And bark . . .

She can wake up half the next township if she spreads an alarm. One night it's the moon. Another time it's a white cow. One night last winter it was snowflakes, which she was trying to catch before they reached the ground. She is a kook.

This and That

According to a recent household survey in the United States of trouble-free family gadgets and machines, the family car ended up at the bottom of the list — ranked below even the traditionally troublesome television set. Tops on the list of trouble-free family gadgets were the kitchen refrigerator and stove, followed by the home sewing machine, and electric iron.

The average American man, according to one recent survey, tips the scales at three to five pounds more than he did 30 years ago. On the other hand, the ever-slimming American female now weighs between one and five pounds less than did her counterpart of 1930.

'Tyranny Of The Majority' Condemned

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The Russians have a way of calling their government a "democracy." They interpret the word as meaning a system in which their government imposes anything it considers good for the people even if this invades individual rights.

David Lawrence

The secretary of labor, W. Willard Wirtz, who admittedly reflects President Kennedy's views, now says publicly that compulsory unionization is "democracy."

He says that if two-thirds of the employes of a plant who are members of the union vote to compel the other third to join — under penalty of losing their jobs if they don't — this "satisfied every principle of democracy with which I'm familiar." He made his statement in an attempt to influence the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. to bow to labor's demand for compulsory unionization.

But the Supreme Court of the United States, in its famous decision upholding the right of labor unions to bargain collectively, pointed out specifically that the law enacted by Congress does not prohibit the making of individual contracts by the employer with individual employes.

Likewise, both the Wagner Act and the Taft-Hartley Act has forbidden discrimination "in regard to hire or tenure of employment or any term or condition of employment to encourage or discourage membership in any labor organization."

Existing law really tells employers to keep their hands off the question of membership in unions. This is because for many years various employers attempted to form unions subject to their own control.

THE EMPLOYER has no basic obligation today to require an employe, by contract or otherwise, to join a union or lose his job. Yet, because the law permits an employer to violate this principle when he accepts a collective - bargaining contract embodying compulsory unionization, the practice of labor unions in bludgeoning employers by strikes or threats of strikes to accept the mandate of a majority of the employes has caused a surrender by many employers.

Thus, the principle involved — interference with the rights of the individual worker — has been brazenly disregarded.

If there were some kind of award given annually in recognition of the courage of an employer who stood up for the right of his own employes to decide for themselves as individuals whether they want to join a union, such a badge of merit ought this year to go to the Lockheed executives. In the present dispute all wage issues have been settled by collective bargaining with a recognized union. The employer has merely declined to agree to an election that could bring compulsory unionization. If the non-union men wish voluntarily to join the union they can always do so.

Yet how long can Lockheed hold out? The Defense Department can exert pressure and threaten to withdraw defense contracts unless the company conforms to the political objectives of an administration which counts on the votes from labor unions at the polls and the benefits derived from big campaign contributions collected by the union officers.

Members of Congress are complaining that the administration has already exerted pressure in the aircraft industry to help the unions.

WHY DOES a labor union want the minority included? After all, the law provides that wage rates cannot be discriminatory and must be the same for union and non-union employes. The answer is that the labor unions want more dues money. Once a worker joins a union, the next step is to demand the check off of dues, which, by agreement, the employer can be required to deduct just as the government requires with respect to taxes on payrolls.

More and more the labor union becomes, on its own, a system of government which decides also how much pension money shall be set aside from each worker's pay, irrespective of whether or not the sums subtracted fit his particular financial problems.

The usual argument made in favor of compulsory unionization is that the worker is benefitted by the union's negotiations. But many a worker will dispute that claim, especially when a union demand for wages is so high that the economic disturbance created compels the employer to lay off workers whom he might otherwise retain.

The labor unions are on the spot when this subject is viewed in the light of the civil rights battles of today. Many a labor union has voted by majority rule to exclude Negroes from membership. National labor leaders are protesting against this on the ground that the minority have rights of their own. Certainly the unions can't have it both ways.

THE RIGHT of the individual to negotiate for a job is conceded to him by the union — so it is difficult to see how the union, in collusion with an employer, can justly take away the right of the worker to stay in his job so long as he performs his work satisfactorily. This definition will be accepted by all believers in true democracy. The "tyranny of the majority" has been condemned throughout history as too often inimical to individual freedoms.

Concessions Needed On Labor Front

By VICTOR RIESEL

It could be that great nations some day will be dueling in the sun a million miles from earth with swift gliding outerspace war craft already on the drawing boards. We now are building one such space galleon at Seattle. It is the prototype of future military spacecraft — the Boeing Dyna-Soar. This is the Air Force boost-glide spacecraft. Already the Pentagon has spent well over $110 million on it.

Victor Riesel

The full-scale "mock-up" has passed its inspection. It will be built at the Boeing Seattle-Renton complex here, which employes some 30,000 craftsmen. Many of them are members of the International Association of Machinists (IAM), which struck Lockheed's operations all the way from Polaris test sites at Cape Canaveral to the tracking stations in Hawaii.

There is temporary peace in that power struggle within the aerospace industry. But now there is a chance that the IAM may walk out on the Boeing plants early next January.

ALONG WITH a work stoppage on the Dyna-Soar, a machinists strike at Boeing would cripple the production of the newest of intercontinental ballistic missiles, the sleek Minuteman. Pickets would appear at Minuteman "bird cages" — underground silos — deep in the earth of Missouri and California. There the machinists help install what our military tells me is the most effective transworld weapon we have for retaliation if ever we're attacked.

Of course, the Dyna-Soar is the most dramatic of all future weaponry. There is no intent here to close that a few days' or a few weeks' delay will positively put us behind the Soviets. But neither will it help.

And the edge in time is an edge. Nations have lost out in weaponry by short periods of delayed development.

What is most serious is that there is developing, just when it appeared to be wiped out, a feeling that striking missile sites and space experimentation and development centers take little more consideration than pulling a bus strike. Just look at what happened behind the scenes in the Lockheed crisis.

THE MACHINISTS, whose leader Al Hayes is one of labor's national policy makers, not only mass picketed Lockheed plants, but threw lines around the full sites at Cape Canaveral, Vandenberg, and Point Arguello—launch bases for the Discoverer, Midas, satellites and other major space experimentation. This under the law is their right.

But then the machinists, who have but a few hundred members at these various points, privately attempted to convince all the construction and building trades unions at these sites to respect the picket lines. At Canaveral this would have kept 15,000 men away from vital work.

However, the Missile Sites Labor Commission, of which Julius Kuczma is executive secretary, went to Neil Haggerty in Washington. Mr. Haggerty is president of the Building and Construction Trades Dept. of the AFL-CIO.

Haggerty has been a leader in the drive to obtain a no-strike pledge (on missile, space and defense work) from the regional as well as the national chiefs of some 3 million craftsmen.

THIS NEWS has been overlooked. It should not be. They were on the job when Jerome Adlerman, general counsel of Sen. McClellan's Government Operations Committee flew in for personal observation so he could report to his chief. Sen. McClellan has introduced a bill which would outlaw defense installation and missile and space base strikes.

For this he has been sharply assailed by the labor leaders. But public support for some such law is building up. A strike at Boeing would whip it up more. Such a stoppage might develop despite the voting on the union shop—a phrase which means that all workers must join the union after a stated period.

The machinists have many other demands — involving unemployment benefits, pensions, sick leave, severance pay, health and welfare fringes and wages.

But disputes such as these must be ironed out without stoppages which delay a Dyna-Soar or a Minuteman or work at a Canaveral or Point Arguello.

A missile, a satellite, a space ship is not a bus. Times have changed. Here and there the cold war heats up into shooting with live ammo. All sides on our industrial front must concede a little.

Information Policies

By James Marlow

It's not only paper; it's people. Stamp a document "secret" or don't talk. The government has those two basic ways to keep information from the public. The excuse is the general good.

The idea is to prevent release of certain kinds of information which might hurt national security. Sometimes this is justified. Sometimes it's not and is overdone. Two examples of overdoing it:

1. The Pentagon several years ago concealed information on the number of transport planes used to ferry officials abroad. The ban was lifted under protest from Congress.

2. The Migratory Bird Conservation Commission and the Indian Arts and Crafts Board had the right to make documents secret. This happened under President Eisenhower's administration. The reason wasn't sinister.

Some of his aides, in a grand gesture giving all kinds of agencies the right to withhold documents, forgot to exclude the bird commission and the arts and crafts board.

The planes, the birds and the crafts illustrate the reason for the endless dispute between Congress and news media on one side and, on the other, the government and some of its overly secret-minded officials.

The squabbling now is with the Kennedy administration. But it has a history. From earliest times the government, if necessary, had the right to hold back certain military - diplomatic information. There were few restrictions before World War I. They multiplied from then on.

A year before the United States went into World War II news organizations were asked to avoid mentioning certain kinds of information, like ship movements. (The Kennedy administration did the same thing during this year's Cuban crisis.) Information controls tightened as the World War II defense program progressed. Once in the war, censorship began again.

After the hot war came the cold war, far more secrecy was needed, and was imposed by the government, than in any previous peacetime period.

In 1953 Eisenhower kept the plan but did revising, and more of it later. Yet in 1956 one Air Force official told Congress he estimated that perhaps one million government employes had authority to classify documents.

Kennedy got up to his neck in news blackout when the Cuban rebels in 1961 made their tragic U.S.-backed attempt to invade their homeland. For a few days top American officials, from Kennedy down, professed innocence and ignorance about help for the rebels. (A somewhat similar blackout occurred in 1960 under the Eisenhower administration when the American U2 plane was shot down over the Soviet Union.)

Then suddenly Kennedy took full blame for the invasion fiasco. Three days later he went before the American Newspaper Publishers Association and urged "self-restraint" on matters involving national security. He suggested some voluntary form of it.

Then came the 1962 crisis over Russian missiles in Cuba. This time Kennedy's team truly "managed" the news. This was admitted by Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, who frankly said the administration manipulated news as part of its "weaponry." Newsmen hotly criticized him for this. He spent a lot of time trying to explain his phrasing.

But in between times three things happened:

The White House, at the peak of the Cuban business, asked the wire news services and television and radio networks to use caution and discretion with 12 categories of information, such as ship movements. The White House withdrew this request when the crisis subsided.

Sylvester told Pentagon officials and the State Department told its people to report the substance of every interview with newsmen. This got a hot denunciation from newsmen, too.

The State Department subsequently dropped its order, or so it said. But Sylvester refused to backdown on his. Rather, he said the Pentagon is giving out more information now than it ever did. In the past 22 months, he said, the number of its news releases has increased 40 per cent.

Open Defiance Of The Law

A graphic example of the state of affairs in upper Hancock County was offered over the weekend during the raid on the Rio Club.

Open defiance of the law marked the incident, with threats being hurled and tires slashed on the cars of the constables who conducted the raid.

If there has been doubt in anyone's mind as to the need for a cleanup, it should have been removed with this latest incident. When a club's operator, its employes and its patrons begin to take over in the face of a legalized search, things have reached a deplorable state.

From eyewitness accounts, it was only by some stroke of good fortune that the affair didn't turn into a more ugly mess, with serious injury or possible loss of life.

An official report of the raid should reach the governor's desk at Charleston.

Also, those seriously interested in an end to illegal gambling undoubtedly could help their cause by bombarding Charleston with protests.

All Enemies Are Ruthless

This Dec. 7 will be the 21st anniversary of the carelessness that caused Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor to be successful.

The "day that will live in infamy," as President Roosevelt said it should, is remembered better than any other event in World War II.

But as time passes, Dec. 7, 1941, is being remembered more for U. S. fat-headedness than Japanese ruthlessness. It would have been hard for the Japanese to be anything but ruthless that Sunday morning. They were shooting fish in a barrel. They never dreamed it would be so easy.

To paraphrase Winston Churchill's comment on the airmen who saved Britain, never have so many Americans owed their deaths to so much official fat-headedness.

With only 100 planes and a few midget submarines, the Japs destroyed 177 U. S. planes and put out of commission temporarily or permanently the better part of 86 ships tied up for the forthcoming slaughter.

They could not have done more than a fraction of this damage or killed more than a handful of the men who lost their lives that day if the U. S. Navy, the U. S. Army and the U. S. politicians had been doing what they were responsible for doing.

The politicians are supposed to look out for the country's international relations and not be caught napping. They were sound asleep Dec. 7, 1941. The militarists are supposed to keep their weapons at the ready and not doze off at their sentry posts. They were remiss on both counts. They hadn't even come to when the Japs hit Manila the next day. The planes were lined up for slaughter on the ground there, too; all were wiped out.

The day "will live in infamy." But unless it taught the American people something, nothing will be gained by remembering it.

The lesson is easy: If you ask for a sucker punch, you will get it.

But it is hard to learn.

The United States is asking for another sucker punch. It is taking at their word spokesmen for a government that has no good will in it and is dead set on pushing the United States into oblivion.

Cuba could be another Pearl Harbor. All the elements are there if the United States asks for a sucker punch.

It assuredly will get one if it lets Russian spokesmen lull it to sleep the way the two Japanese gentlemen sweet - talked the Roosevelians into a coma right up to the moment their country launched its attack.

The infamy that Dec. 7, 1941, lives in is the incredible gullibility of the U. S. government. The United States cannot afford to turn its back in a dog - eat - dog world. Even its "friends" are capable of mad-dog antics.

The brightest thing the sometimes-not-too-bright Washington decision - makers could do right now would be to rename Guantanamo Naval Base "Pearl Harbor" and call the southern part of the Florida peninsula the "Philippines."

Twenty-one years later our politicians and defenders are tempting another ruthless enemy to knock us off. Aren't all enemies ruthless? Is there any other kind?

Confidence Must Be Earned

From time to time, candidates for office have leveled with voters by listing their financial interests voluntarily.

They have made the same disclosures about axes they might be tempted to grind as the U.S. Senate demands of appointive officials it is asked to approve.

One senator, Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, a Republican, thinks all members of Congress should disclose their holdings. He has a particularly compelling reason.

He believes Congress needs to earn confidence. He believes it has hurt itself by using a double standard — one set of ethics for appointive officials, another for elected officials.

Sen. Case does not demand that representatives and senators be forced to divest themselves of holdings that might generate "conflicts of interest," as is done with appointive officials. He asks only that they tell what their interests are, so their decisions can be judged accordingly.

It is a fair proposal.

Congress does need to earn confidence. Those who have been jealous of its good name and have defended it against critics who tried to degrade it are aware of its declining prestige. Popular appraisals of its motivation and procedure are not flattering.

The assumption is too easily and too often made that self-interest and bloc pressure are prime motivations and delay and side-tracking are standard procedure.

The impression is too easily gained that representatives and senators have no ideas of their own but only react to proposals of the executive and then mostly in a negative way as part of a contest of negativism whose object is to keep the White House from scoring.

How far has congressional prestige declined? So far that no one in his right mind would bet at odds of 1,000-to-1 that Sen. Case's proposal for full disclosure can get so much as a hearing.

40-40-40 Or Bust

By Truman Twill

Reports on the Rottenwollie have been falling off. This will bring her friends up to date.

We never have found out where she hid the squeeze bottle with the window-washing gunk. The secret will come out when she finally bites into it and gets a facefull of high-pressure solvent.

She now is 18 months old and beginning to grow up. She doesn't jump around as much as she did. When she was a pup, she would run to greet the head of the house when the car door was opened; you knew where she was. Now she sits still until the homecoming victim is out of the car and walking to the door in the dark. She lets him have it, a bolt out of the black, right across the thighs, then licks his face while he is on his back.

The tulip bulbs perplexed her. She never had seen bipeds burying treasures before. And in exciting quantities. If she could count above 10 she could keep score on how many bulbs to dig up before her work is done. As it is, she is still missing half of them, but it's all right. She is burying them somewhere else.

She has re-established her friendly relationship with the flock of sheep. During the summer, once she had grown used to the idea it was all right for the sheep to be out of the barn, she ignored them. Now she is back to her last winter trick of lying in the manager, letting herself be covered with hay, then jumping up to the surprise the first customer. It isn't as good a trick as it used to be, because she now is seven times larger than she was a year ago.

Her statistics are indeterminate about 40-40-40 or bust. Her height is not noticeable—only knee-high. Her width is the thing to notice—about the span of a 12-inch plank covered with two-inch curly hair.

The length of the hair is attributable to mixed ancestry—Rottweiler and collie. The length is collie and the color is Rottweiler—jet black with ginger ornamentation.

The feet are Rottweiler the size of saucers.

The eyes are meltingly collie, her disposition girlish and her strength that of 10. Speculation turns often to her weight, but the poundage never will be known because of her strength.

The only way to weigh her would be to hold her while standing on the bathroom scales, and no one is strong enough to do this. She grows muscles on top of muscles on top of muscles.

The burrs in her hair are too deep-seated to be combed out. The eye-glazing smells she rolls in are hard to locate. Everything must be cut out of her coat with scissors, whereupon the hole closes up like honey flows in to fill up the hole where the honey was dipped out.

This brings the report up to date, except for reach. She can clean all the frosting off the exposed side of a cake set 8 inches from the side of a table with one swipe of a limber tongue the size of a bib on a pair of red overalls.

She can ingest a pound of cheese that just happened to fall off a kitchen shelf into her mouth, without stopping to catch her breath. She is an armful, our Rottwollie.

And bark . . .

She can wake up half the next township if she spreads an alarm. One night it's the moon. Another time it's a white cow. One night last winter it was snowflakes, which she was trying to catch before they reached the ground. She is a kook.

This and That

According to a recent household survey in the United States of trouble-free family gadgets and machines, the family car ended up at the bottom of the list — ranked below even the traditionally troublesome television set. Tops on the list of trouble-free family gadgets were the kitchen refrigerator and stove, followed by the home sewing machine, and electric iron.

The average American man, according to one recent survey, tips the scales at three to five pounds more than he did 30 years ago. On the other hand, the ever-slimming American female now weighs between one and five pounds less than did her counterpart of 1930.

'Tyranny Of The Majority' Condemned

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The Russians have a way of calling their government a "democracy." They interpret the word as meaning a system in which their government imposes anything it considers good for the people even if this invades individual rights.

David Lawrence

The secretary of labor, W. Willard Wirtz, who admittedly reflects President Kennedy's views, now says publicly that compulsory unionization is "democracy."

He says that if two-thirds of the employes of a plant who are members of the union vote to compel the other third to join — under penalty of losing their jobs if they don't — this "satisfied every principle of democracy with which I'm familiar." He made his statement in an attempt to influence the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. to bow to labor's demand for compulsory unionization.

But the Supreme Court of the United States, in its famous decision upholding the right of labor unions to bargain collectively, pointed out specifically that the law enacted by Congress does not prohibit the making of individual contracts by the employer with individual employes.

Likewise, both the Wagner Act and the Taft-Hartley Act has forbidden discrimination "in regard to hire or tenure of employment or any term or condition of employment to encourage or discourage membership in any labor organization."

Existing law really tells employers to keep their hands off the question of membership in unions. This is because for many years various employers attempted to form unions subject to their own control.

THE EMPLOYER has no basic obligation today to require an employe, by contract or otherwise, to join a union or lose his job. Yet, because the law permits an employer to violate this principle when he accepts a collective - bargaining contract embodying compulsory unionization, the practice of labor unions in bludgeoning employers by strikes or threats of strikes to accept the mandate of a majority of the employes has caused a surrender by many employers.

Thus, the principle involved — interference with the rights of the individual worker — has been brazenly disregarded.

If there were some kind of award given annually in recognition of the courage of an employer who stood up for the right of his own employes to decide for themselves as individuals whether they want to join a union, such a badge of merit ought this year to go to the Lockheed executives. In the present dispute all wage issues have been settled by collective bargaining with a recognized union. The employer has merely declined to agree to an election that could bring compulsory unionization. If the non-union men wish voluntarily to join the union they can always do so.

Yet how long can Lockheed hold out? The Defense Department can exert pressure and threaten to withdraw defense contracts unless the company conforms to the political objectives of an administration which counts on the votes from labor unions at the polls and the benefits derived from big campaign contributions collected by the union officers.

Members of Congress are complaining that the administration has already exerted pressure in the aircraft industry to help the unions.

WHY DOES a labor union want the minority included? After all, the law provides that wage rates cannot be discriminatory and must be the same for union and non-union employes. The answer is that the labor unions want more dues money. Once a worker joins a union, the next step is to demand the check off of dues, which, by agreement, the employer can be required to deduct just as the government requires with respect to taxes on payrolls.

More and more the labor union becomes, on its own, a system of government which decides also how much pension money shall be set aside from each worker's pay, irrespective of whether or not the sums subtracted fit his particular financial problems.

The usual argument made in favor of compulsory unionization is that the worker is benefitted by the union's negotiations. But many a worker will dispute that claim, especially when a union demand for wages is so high that the economic disturbance created compels the employer to lay off workers whom he might otherwise retain.

Freeway Signal Request Studied

State Highway Department officials are considering a request from the city to furnish a traffic signal for use at the new freeway's temporary connection with outer Dresden Ave., Safety-Service Director Robert Owen told Council Monday night.

A Highway Department signal expert came here to inspect the intersection at the city's request, Owen explained. Traffic at the sharp right-angle turn now is controlled by stop signs.

THE STATE official said the Highway Department's policy does not cover payment for signals for use inside a city, Owen said. However, he added that the Highway Department may have a light in its stockpile which it can loan to the city for a year or so until the temporary connection is eliminated, Owen said.

If the state furnishes the light, the city would have to erect it and pay for the electricity for its operation, the director said. However, if the city obtains a signal without cost, it would represent a saving of about $800, he added.

"Our argument was that the hazard at the intersection was created by establishing the temporary connection inside the city limits," Owen said. "Because of this, we argued that the state should co-operate on erection of the signal."

When the second stage of the freeway — now under construction — is completed, the temporary connection will be eliminated and traffic will roll on four lanes all the way to the junction of Route 170, near Calcutta.

COUNCILMAN George E. Willshaw, finance committee chairman, reported on a request made Nov. 19 for funds for new traffic signals along the W. 3rd St. freeway approach at Jackson and Jefferson Sts. He said the question still is under consideration and the committee "expects to have a definite answer after the first of the year."

Willshaw also said the committee will make a determination early next year on a request for funds to erect a fence around the Little League baseball field in Thompson Park. The request was made Nov. 19.

Willshaw recalled that the finance committee met Nov. 21 with Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate and Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper to draw up an ordinance listing all the necessary year-end fund transfers. The ordinance was approved Nov. 27, he added.

"WE WENT over every account to get the funds in order," Willshaw said. "Now we find that funds in the street department were overdrawn from the last pay period. This will not mean that we will not be able to meet the payrolls, but we will have some more fund transfers to make."

"I checked Saturday and found some accounts had not been transferred over to the auditor's chief clerk for posting on the books," Willshaw continued. "As a result, we didn't get a true picture of the finances and the transfers that would be required."

Willshaw added that the finance committee will meet again Wednesday night with the auditor to work out more fund transfers. He asked Owen to make certain that all department heads submit bills to the auditor's office and they are entered on the books before the meeting Wednesday night.

BECAUSE OF the approach of the year-end, Councilman Kenneth C. Berg submitted a report on the activity of the street committee. In its inspection trips each Saturday, the committee investigated 225 complaints referred to it on the Council floor, Berg said.

The committee also authorized erection of 20 traffic control signs and eight new street lights, he said.

Councilman Edward Massey thanked the administration for recent work on the Lisbon St. Hill, in which rotten guardrail posts were replaced and a section of curb was raised.

He asked further study of a recommendation made by the street committee, calling for establishment of a crosswalk on E. 5th St. at Crook Alley. He also commented on the State Highway Department's construction of steps to link Ridgeway Ave. and the new freeway.

Massey told Owen he has received complaints the Ohio Valley Gas Co. is not making proper repairs after closing excavations in blacktop streets. Owen replied the company has had difficulty obtaining material for repairs, but believes it now has located a supply. The company always has been co-operative in making repairs, he added.

COUNCILMAN S. James Welch thanked the director for recent street department work on Fairmont St. Councilman Frank Duffy said Walters St. and St. George St. in Little England "are in bad condition" and need attention. Owen replied the streets "were taken care of several days ago."

Council approved a motion by Berg calling for legislation to make permanent the experimental one-way traffic on Division St. Only southbound traffic has been permitted in a 90-day trial, but the committee feels it should be made permanent, he explained.

Massey explained the street is on a steep grade and the surface is torn up when vehicles attempt to ascend it. In addition, it is a hazard in slippery winter weather, he said.

Berg said the committee is continuing investigation of several other similar conditions.

OWEN TOLD A Junior Chamber of Commerce delegation some of the trash containers have been removed from business district sidewalks because they are in "a sad state of disrepair." The containers were taken to the landfill dump, where they may be repaired eventually, he said.

Owen asked if the Jaycees would be interested in a project to replace the containers. The Jaycees replied the containers originally were supplied by the East Liverpool Merchants Association and added the businessmen's group now is considering purchase of new refuse receptacles.

Duffy hit at newspaper accounts of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. filing Friday with the Public Utilities Commission at Columbus for an 18 per cent rate increase in East Liverpool. He said he "talked with a man in Columbus today and that application hasn't been filed yet."

"Is Mr. Duffy saying that the report wasn't true?" Willshaw asked. "I can't believe it."

PRESIDENT Charles N. Edwards told Council Harold Sneddon, the utility's division manager, talked with him Saturday and told him the certification of the filing with the PUCO "will be in the hands of the mayor and the solicitor in a few days."

"We don't have the connections in Columbus like Mr. Duffy," Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. commented.

The meeting opened with invocation by the Rev. Albert Rodenhausen of the First Baptist Church. Councilman Floyd Murray was excused.

Pastors Elect New Officers At Wellsville

New officers were elected at a meeting of the Wellsville Area Ministerial Association Monday at the Central Federal Savings & Loan Association building.

The Rev. James Sanko of the Riverside United Presbyterian Church was named president to succeed the Rev. Arden Beck of the First Methodist Church.

Rev. Sanko had served the past year as vice president-treasurer. He will assume his new duties in January.

Other officers named were Robert Andrews, minister of the First Christian Church, vice president-treasurer, and the Rev. Bruce Davis of the Covenant United Presbyterian Church, secretary.

The ministers directed checks of $55 each be paid to the City Hospital chaplaincy fund and to CROP — the Christian Rural Overseas Program of Relief.

Plans were announced for a pulpit exchange to begin around the first of the new year.

A program on "Church and State as Related to Religion In Schools" will be presented at the meeting Jan. 7.

Lions At Newell See Glenn Film

The resignation of Clarence L. Barnett was accepted. He has been promoted to the Columbus office of his insurance firm.

All members were asked to participate in the annual Christmas candy sale Thursday night to raise funds for sight conservation.

A family dinner was planned Dec. 17 in Watson's Hall at Nessly Chapel on Route 66. The WSCS of Nessly Chapel will serve dinner.

City Boy Sentenced To Industrial School

Virgil Davis Jr., 13 of East Liverpool was sentenced to the Boys Industrial School Monday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

The youth had been in court five times for different offenses, this time for failing to attend school. He had been in school only 5½ days since the beginning of the term in September, court was told.

His father, Virgil Davis, is presently out on $2,000 bond for contributing to the boy's delinquency by failing to send him to school and his hearing has been set for Dec. 17 before Judge Tobin.

211 Petition For St. Clair District Plan

Petitions bearing 211 signatures asking Columbiana County commissioners to establish a regional water and sewer district in portions of St. Clair Township were turned in at the meeting of the St. Clair Township Development Association Monday night at the Calcutta fire station.

Some petitions still are being circulated, it was reported.

After the petitions are submitted and checked, the commissioners will ask Common Pleas Court to create the district. The purpose of the petitions is to secure action from the commissioners so an application may be made for federal assistance.

A representative of A. R. Todd & Associates, consulting engineers, told the association the prosecutor will appoint trustees after the court has acted.

He suggested the petitions be turned over to the prosecutor to check for legality before being submitted to the commissioners.

The commissioners can either act themselves or appoint a governing board of citizens which would be responsible to the court.

The next steps call for the association's committee headed by Dean Wilhelm to meet with the prosecutor after which the prosecutor and a representative of the engineering firm will confer.

In response to a question, the Todd employe said the cost cannot be determined until a final survey has been made.

The scheduled election of officers was delayed until trustees can meet with the trustees of the former Glenmoor association to establish a new slate of candidates.

The association was reminded the township police levy expires next year. St. Clair and Boardman Townships are the only two townships in Ohio whose constables have police radios, it was reported.

Stewart Snyder, president, presided. Next meeting is Jan. 7 in the Glenmoor fire station.

Midland Council To Re-Enact Tax

Midland Council will hold a special meeting Wednesday at 7 p. m. to re-enact the borough wage tax and to consider other matters, Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, secretary, announced.

The meeting will be held in Council Chambers in the Borough Building. William Vinovich is president.

The wage or income tax of 1 per cent was enacted July 12, effective Aug. 12, after the state courts ruled against a $10 a year occupation tax.

For the period Aug. 12 to Sept. 30, $27,961.78 was deposited, Rudolph Presutti, chief clerk of the Midland Income Tax Bureau, reported at a Council meeting Nov. 8.

Girl Scouts To Give Wellsville Program

Girl Scout Troops of Wellsville will combine to present a program of Christmas carols Saturday, Dec. 22, from 7 to 8 p.m. around the Christmas tree in the Public Square.

Arrangements for the presentation were made with Fred Baldasare, safety - service director, by Miss Jane Morris, chairman of the caroling committee. The area around the tree will be blocked off during the program under the direction of Mrs. Louise Lawton.

The firm of Suffoletta & Masters of Midland was retained as solicitor at the current fee of $1,800.

The time and place of meetings were continued as the second Monday of the month at 8 p. m. in the board offices in the Lincoln High School gymnasium and administration building. Next regular meeting will be Monday evening.

Board Approves Course

Nurse Aide Class Slated For Unemployed Women

A 90-hour course to retrain unemployed women as nurses' aides, under the new Manpower Development Act approved by the last Congress, was authorized Monday night by the Board of Education.

The board also approved a Civil Defense course in survival training to be taught by faculty members.

In explaining the retraining program, Supt. Ralph W. Betts said the Ohio State Employment Service made a survey which showed nursing homes in the area need about 20 nurses' aides in addition to those now employed.

The survey also showed about 44 women are interested in such training.

Under the new law, the school board must approved the course and select the instructor and the OSES office must make a survey to establish the need before the program will be considered under the Manpower Development Act.

The course would be held six hours daily for three weeks with the OSES screening the applicants to determine which would attend. The board would pay the instructor and then be reimbursed through the state.

The survival training course would be taught by faculty members, nine of whom have completed a Civil Defense course in Lisbon, Betts said.

The teachers would be paid by the hour for the 12-hour course by the state from federal funds. Approximately 18 persons would be enrolled in each class.

Board Approves Course

Nurse Aide Class Slated For Unemployed Women

A 90-hour course to retrain unemployed women as nurses' aides, under the new Manpower Development Act approved by the last Congress, was authorized Monday night by the Board of Education.

The board also approved a Civil Defense course in survival training to be taught by faculty members.

In explaining the retraining program, Supt. Ralph W. Betts said the Ohio State Employment Service made a survey which showed nursing homes in the area need about 20 nurses' aides in addition to those now employed.

The survey also showed about 44 women are interested in such training.

Under the new law, the school board must approved the course and select the instructor and the OSES office must make a survey to establish the need before the program will be considered under the Manpower Development Act.

The course would be held six hours daily for three weeks with the OSES screening the applicants to determine which would attend. The board would pay the instructor and then be reimbursed through the state.

The survival training course would be taught by faculty members, nine of whom have completed a Civil Defense course in Lisbon, Betts said.

The teachers would be paid by the hour for the 12-hour course by the state from federal funds. Approximately 18 persons would be enrolled in each class.

The board also approved the use of LaCroft School as a fallout shelter in Liverpool Township at the request of township CD officials.

The board several months ago approved the use of the high school, Memorial Auditorium, Garfield and Klondyke buildings as fallout shelters in the city but the Klondyke building has been eliminated by federal officials, Betts reported.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Do NOT defrost your refrigerator this way:

The other day I was in a hurry to defrost my refrigerator. While trying to remove ice with a knife, I accidentally sliced the tube which carries ammonia throughout the freezing compartment.

This very stupid mistake cost me a large sum. I am a teacher but no one ever told me NOT to poke around the ice! Since this expensive mishap, I have talked with many who do the same thing. Through my error they vow they will never "play with the ice" by using a knife or ice pick.

Perhaps you will print this to save many women from unnecessary bills and tears. I truly feel very foolish. It's a lesson that has been well learned.

NANCY

You learned, I profited and I printed it. Bless you for sharing.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: When cleaning some sweet corn on the cob, I became so disgusted trying to pick off the corn silk that I grabbed a dampened paper towel. I brushed downward on the ear of corn with it and every silk came off!

S. SCHREODER

DEAR HELOISE: When I peel carrots I lay them flat on my cutting board, hold them by the top, and just run the peeler down them while holding them in your hand. It saves many fingernails too!

MADOLYN HUCKABEE.

DEAR HELOISE: I wonder if one of your readers has a quick, easy solution to the problem of cleaning brass?

My furniture has brass handles and I spend hours at a time cleaning them. Is there a cloth on the market to use frequently on brass to restore its luster?

BRASSY.

Any answer? Write to Heloise, in care of The Review.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep paprika bright red and fresh . . . just store it in the refrigerator. It will keep for years this way.

FI M.

Multi-Purpose Timer

DEAR HELOISE: An oven timer, attached or separate, is an item I could not do without. In fact, in 11 years of marriage and six kiddies, I just recently purchased a new one.

I use it so the children can take turns at different things. I set it for 5 or 10 minutes on one item—30 minutes on certain games and so forth.

My list could go on and on, but I'm sure that you mothers will get the idea.

Even our 2-year-old learned to listen for the ping of the timer. I've used it for punishments too. Thirty minutes or an hour of punishment is what my oldest child gets if he's really provoked me. Five minutes on a chair is crushing and long enough for my 2-year-old. There is nothing to do but sit for 5 minutes. To them it is an eternity. Any longer, and they forget why they're sitting!

I am a great advocate of a timer and once you start using one you'll find a hundred little jobs which it will remind you to do . . . or stop doing!

For telephone calls, I let it ping in the phone if I want to get off quickly. The other party says "What's that"? I say, "Oh, its my timer. I have to do something important." (This doesn't always work though!)

DONNA GEPFORD.

Aren't you cute? Thanks.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When you buy frozen food dinners. . . don't throw away the waxed carton. They are absolutely wonderful to start charcoal fires or in wood-burning fireplaces.

Take these boxes and place them under the logs or coals and light the match. It works every time. The little bit of wax that is on these cartons starts the fires and keeps it glowing.

FIRE STARTER.

DEAR HELOISE: When I iron my little girl's dresses, I always keep the iron about one-fourth inch from the bottom edge of a dress or skirt hem. That way, when the hem is lowered, there is not likely to be a faded white line, nor will there be a deep crease to remove.

ancial difficulties," Willshaw said, "A recreation program, building code and zoning regulations also will be considered now that we're getting out of the woods financially."

Councilman Kenneth C. Berg, next to speak, commended the Jaycees for their interest and pledged co-operation in setting up a master plan.

"Council welcomes your pledge," Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. said. "It looks pretty nice to have a group of young people here who are willing to help us."

"Council has had this under consideration since the beginning of this term," Councilman Edward Massey told the Jaycees. "Money has been the main factor. You have to have a bona fide plan to present to the federal government when you ask for funds."

"At present, you could educate the public on what a master plan means," Massey continued. "We've made great strides in our education system, but we need industries to keep the people here."

Councilman S. James Welch said a master plan, a recreation program and continuing a street improvement program will be three major Council projects in 1963.

"We all know the sad plight of the pottery industry," he said. "We know the dire need for diversified industry here. Salem, Columbiana and other communities have diversified, small industry."

Welch said it has been estimated preparation of a master plan would cost $30,000 to $40,000.

"It's my opinion the money would be well - spent," he said. "We're starting to make progress through the income tax. I think Council will be willing to meet with your group to discuss the question further when we both have more information."

Councilman Frank Duffy pledged co-operation in the master plan development. President Charles N. Edwards thanked the Jaycees for attending the session and invited them to return.

Witness Tells Of Racing Bet

The trial recessed at 11:45 and the jury was to return at 12:45 for the start of closing arguments.

Monday's testimony was marked by a dramatic appearance of Mrs. Frank Robinson as a rebuttal witness for Prosecutor Brokaw after the defense case rested at 2:45.

One Of 6 Witnesses

Mrs. Robinson, one of six rebuttal witnesses called yesterday afternoon, testified on the apparently modest life she and her husband had prior to his death.

She also declared that Mr. Robinson told her of all affairs at the water department office — "he never withheld anything from me."

Mrs. Robinson said her husband, whom she wed in 1947, owned his home and some property in the Substation area which was sold in 1961 when he was ill just prior to his death. She said his sister deeded her house to him.

Mrs. Robinson said she and her late husband had a 1949 auto which she still has. She said his salary was $512 a month, and that had obtained a pension when he retired. She said he had no large savings account.

Had Said Nothing

"If there had been anything wrong at the office, would he have told you?" Brokaw asked. She said he would have, adding he had said "not a thing."

"Did he ever tell you of any large shortage?" "No, sir."

Atty. Springer asked her what here husband did in his spare time. She said he worked on the lawn, but "had no special hobbies."

"Did he belong to any clubs?" Mrs. Robinson said he was a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Masonic Lodge.

Miss Smith spent three hours on the witness stand yesterday before Prosecutor Brokaw ended his cross-examination and the defense rested at 2:45 p. m.

Brokaw returned again and again to the defendant's inability to account for the difference between the $11,000 she said was taken from the office safe in September 1959 and the $23,841 shortage found by the state examiner in November 1961.

Agrees To Reasoning

"Roberta, if you were $11,000 short when you started, and you continued to cover up that loss," Brokaw asked, "wouldn't you be that amount short continually?" She agreed.

"I ask you again, then, what happened to the additional $12,000?" She replied, "I don't know, I received what was turned over to me."

Judge Sharp asked, "You wouldn't have to account for money not turned over to you, would you?" She said if money and stubs might have been withheld by someone else. Judge Sharp said she wouldn't have received it and wouldn't be accountable.

There was a discussion on the stubs found in the quarterly boxes and whether she had placed them there.

Earlier, Brokaw said, "You say you don't want to accuse Frank Robinson of taking the money, that you wouldn't believe it?" "No, sir, I don't believe he would."

Recalls Her Statement

"Yet, you say he told you to keep it quiet?" "He said he 'would take care of it'."

"Why do you suppose he told you to keep it quiet?" "I don't know," she answered, going on to say that the Board of Public Utilities and Donald Duke, now superintendent, "assumed I took it."

Brokaw asked, "What other assumption is there, what else can I believe?" "You could check some other people," she said. Brokaw said, "Otherwise I have to believe Frank Robinson took the $11,000." She said, "I only tell you what I was told to do, I don't know anything else."

Brokaw turned to her interest in horse racing at Waterford Park where she said she went at times on her lunch hour at the department.

Played Daily Doubles

She said she played the daily doubles, and won heavily twice and about four or five other times. "Did you play other races?" "Yes, not very often."

"There are a lot of windows over there?" "Yes, a lot of windows and a lot of nice friendly people," she replied. "How much would you send over to bet?" "Sometimes $3 or $4, more if there was a long shot."

"I thought you said you won a lot?" "No one wins all the time." "You did play a lot?" "Yes, and with my own money, not the office's."

"Where did you get your information on the betting?" "From the newspapers." "Get any tips?" "No. Once a man gave me one." "What system did you use?"

'Enjoyed Racing'

"No system. I just enjoyed it. I liked to see the horses." "You spent money on it." "Yes, I enjoyed that part too." "The gambling?" "Yes."

"Ever go to the $50 window?" She smiled, "No, sir, I went mostly to the $2 windows."

"How did you get started?" "Oh, I heard the talk around the office about the horses and the bookies."

Brokaw looked at her with a grin. "Bookies, in East Liverpool?" She smiled, "Yes, from what I understand." "I'd be interested in that," he commented.

There was further questioning on two cars she bought, a smaller one in 1959 and an Oldsmobile in 1961 on which she said she traded the older auto and owed a mortgage lien.

The prosecutor returned to the books. "Your records were OK up to September 1959?" "Yes, sir." "Is there anything you want to say on that?" "No."

Questioned About Bills

He then questioned her about some of the bills for the period 1957-58 or before the audit period which she had held. Miss Smith explained that those bills were for "people who said they had paid and had receipts but for which we had no records of receiving it."

She said those bills had been "kept aside and held."

Brokaw asked, "Why, if you had received that money previously, did you sign these 'to cover shortages?' "

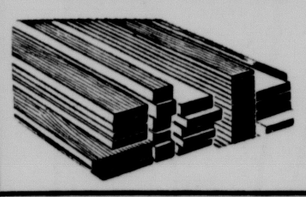

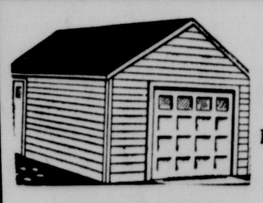

"I just signed the whole bunch of invoices that were turned over to the examiner," she answered wearily.

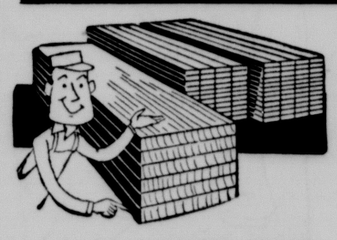

Brokaw read off checks from some of the customers who had paid the bills in the 1957-58 period, "This is pretty good evidence that these were paid?" "Yes."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Do NOT defrost your refrigerator this way:

The other day I was in a hurry to defrost my refrigerator. While trying to remove ice with a knife, I accidentally sliced the tube which carries ammonia throughout the freezing compartment.

This very stupid mistake cost me a large sum. I am a teacher but no one ever told me NOT to poke around the ice! Since this expensive mishap, I have talked with many who do the same thing. Through my error they vow they will never "play with the ice" by using a knife or ice pick.

Perhaps you will print this to save many women from unnecessary bills and tears. I truly feel very foolish. It's a lesson that has been well learned.

NANCY

You learned, I profited and I printed it. Bless you for sharing.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: When cleaning some sweet corn on the cob, I became so disgusted trying to pick off the corn silk that I grabbed a dampened paper towel. I brushed downward on the ear of corn with it and every silk came off!

S. SCHREODER

DEAR HELOISE: When I peel carrots I lay them flat on my cutting board, hold them by the top, and just run the peeler down them while holding them in your hand. It saves many fingernails too!

MADOLYN HUCKABEE.

DEAR HELOISE: I wonder if one of your readers has a quick, easy solution to the problem of cleaning brass?

My furniture has brass handles and I spend hours at a time cleaning them. Is there a cloth on the market to use frequently on brass to restore its luster?

BRASSY.

Any answer? Write to Heloise, in care of The Review.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep paprika bright red and fresh . . . just store it in the refrigerator. It will keep for years this way.

Multi-Purpose Timer

DEAR HELOISE: An oven timer, attached or separate, is an item I could not do without. In fact, in 11 years of marriage and six kiddies, I just recently purchased a new one.

I use it so the children can take turns at different things. I set it for 5 or 10 minutes on one item—30 minutes on certain games and so forth.

My list could go on and on, but I'm sure that you mothers will get the idea.

Even our 2-year-old learned to listen for the ping of the timer. I've used it for punishments too. Thirty minutes or an hour of punishment is what my oldest child gets if he's really provoked me. Five minutes on a chair is crushing and long enough for my 2-year-old. There is nothing to do but sit for 5 minutes. To them it is an eternity. Any longer, and they forget why they're sitting!

I am a great advocate of a timer and once you start using one you'll find a hundred little jobs which it will remind you to do . . . or stop doing!

For telephone calls, I let it ping in the phone if I want to get off quickly. The other party says "What's that"? I say, "Oh, its my timer. I have to do something important." (This doesn't always work though!)

DONNA GEPFORD.

Aren't you cute? Thanks.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When you buy frozen food dinners. . . don't throw away the waxed carton. They are absolutely wonderful to start charcoal fires or in wood-burning fireplaces.

Take these boxes and place them under the logs or coals and light the match. It works every time. The little bit of wax that is on these cartons starts the fires and keeps it glowing.

FIRE STARTER.

DEAR HELOISE: When I iron my little girl's dresses, I always keep the iron about one-fourth inch from the bottom edge of a dress or skirt hem. That way, when the hem is lowered, there is not likely to be a faded white line, nor will there be a deep crease to remove.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER TWO

"What can it mean?" gasped Mr. Shnoo, staring at the letter from S. Claus at Santa Land.

"Why not open it and see?" said Crookshank stiffly.

Mr. Shnoo tried but his fingers trembled so he could hardly hold the letter, let alone open it.

"Give it to me," snapped Crookshank. "I'll open it."

"Yes, yes," murmured Mr. Shnoo agitatedly. "Dear me, I am shaking all over!"

"You are like a child," taunted Crookshank. "You believe anything." He ripped open the envelope and drew out a letter written in red ink on the back of a piece of green and white striped wrapping paper. He read in silence.

Mr. Shnoo cried, "Out loud! Read it out loud!"

CROOKSHANK made a face and read aloud. "Dear Shnellingham Shnoo."

"Think of that!" interrupted Mr. Shnoo. "My whole name!"

"Do you want to hear it or not?" asked Crookshank rudely.

"Yes, yes. Read on!"

"Dear Shnellingham Shnoo,

"I have heard that you have a fine zoo and that there is nothing you cannot do with animals. If this is so I hope you will be willing to help me for I have a very serious problem.

"As you perhaps know. I have eight reindeer who fly me around the world each Christmas eve. These deer are wonderful creatures but they have been serving me for over 1,000 years and now, alas, old age is affecting them and I fear they will be unable to make the long trip again.

"I must have eight new reindeer before Christmas. Would it be possible for you to let me borrow them from your zoo? I know this is asking a great deal because I'm sure you hate to let your pets out of sight. However, I promise I will take good care of them and they will be happy.

"Sincerely,

"S. Claus."

MR. SHNOO beamed. "Think of it!" He took the letter from Crookshank and read the whole thing through again. When he reached the end he said, "But there's a postscript! You didn't read that!"

"It's humbug!" sniffed Crookshank.

"P.S." read Mr. Shnoo aloud. "Maybe I can be of help to you sometime if you should ever need me. Santa."

"Hump" said Crookshank.

Mr. Shnoo waved him away.

Mr. Shnoo read the letter from Santa Claus.

"The honor of it! My reindeer to carry Christmas all over the world!"

"Are you mad?" exclaimed Crookshank.

"I must go and tell them at once," said Mr. Shnoo.

"What do you mean?" asked Mr. Shnoo.

"Idiot!" yelled Crookshank. "Your reindeer can't fly!"

Mr. Shnoo's face fell. He sat down on a bench. "I hadn't thought of that."

THIS IS the way Mr. Shnoo acted when he was thinking. Usually it helped him to get his thoughts in order. It was especially useful when he had a decision to make.

But today nothing helped. Finally he got up and said, "I think I'll go have a look at them."

Off he went to the reindeer enclosure with Crookshank tagging along behind him. Mr. Shnoo leaned against the fence and gazed at the deer. They were not very handsome. They were short and heavy and thickbodied. But their antlers were magnificent and they were brave and gentle creatures.

Mr. Shnoo's face began to work. He wound one leg around the other and jiggled his elbows. He was thinking again.

Suddenly he straightened. "I'm sending a message to S. Claus," he said. "I'll tell him he can use my deer."

"But—" began Crookshank.

Mr. Shnoo smiled and rolled up his sleeves. "No buts," said he. "I shall teach them to fly!"

ancial difficulties," Willshaw said, "A recreation program, building code and zoning regulations also will be considered now that we're getting out of the woods financially."

Councilman Kenneth C. Berg, next to speak, commended the Jaycees for their interest and pledged co-operation in setting up a master plan.

"Council welcomes your pledge," Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. said. "It looks pretty nice to have a group of young people here who are willing to help us."

"Council has had this under consideration since the beginning of this term," Councilman Edward Massey told the Jaycees. "Money has been the main factor. You have to have a bona fide plan to present to the federal government when you ask for funds."

"At present, you could educate the public on what a master plan means," Massey continued. "We've made great strides in our education system, but we need industries to keep the people here."

Councilman S. James Welch said a master plan, a recreation program and continuing a street improvement program will be three major Council projects in 1963.

"We all know the sad plight of the pottery industry," he said. "We know the dire need for diversified industry here. Salem, Columbiana and other communities have diversified, small industry."

Welch said it has been estimated preparation of a master plan would cost $30,000 to $40,000.

"It's my opinion the money would be well - spent," he said. "We're starting to make progress through the income tax. I think Council will be willing to meet with your group to discuss the question further when we both have more information."

Councilman Frank Duffy pledged co-operation in the master plan development. President Charles N. Edwards thanked the Jaycees for attending the session and invited them to return.

of the defendant, said he paid money to her for purchases made on her charge accounts.

The trial recessed at 11:45 and the jury was to return at 12:45 for the start of closing arguments.

Monday's testimony was marked by a dramatic appearance of Mrs. Frank Robinson as a rebuttal witness for Prosecutor Brokaw after the defense case rested at 2:45.

One Of 6 Witnesses

Mrs. Robinson, one of six rebuttal witnesses called yesterday afternoon, testified on the apparently modest life she and her husband had prior to his death.

She also declared that Mr. Robinson told her of all affairs at the water department office — "he never withheld anything from me."

Mrs. Robinson said her husband, whom she wed in 1947, owned his home and some property in the Substation area which was sold in 1961 when he was ill just prior to his death. She said his sister deeded her house to him.

Mrs. Robinson said she and her late husband had a 1949 auto which she still has. She said his salary was $512 a month, and that had obtained a pension when he retired. She said he had no large savings account.

Had Said Nothing

"If there had been anything wrong at the office, would he have told you?" Brokaw asked. She said he would have, adding he had said "not a thing."

"Did he ever tell you of any large shortage?" "No, sir."

Atty. Springer asked her what here husband did in his spare time. She said he worked on the lawn, but "had no special hobbies."

"Did he belong to any clubs?" Mrs. Robinson said he was a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Masonic Lodge.

Miss Smith spent three hours on the witness stand yesterday before Prosecutor Brokaw ended his cross-examination and the defense rested at 2:45 p. m.

Brokaw returned again and again to the defendant's inability to account for the difference between the $11,000 she said was taken from the office safe in September 1959 and the $23,841 shortage found by the state examiner in November 1961.

Agrees To Reasoning

"Roberta, if you were $11,000 short when you started, and you continued to cover up that loss," Brokaw asked, "wouldn't you be that amount short continually?" She agreed.

"I ask you again, then, what happened to the additional $12,000?" She replied, "I don't know, I received what was turned over to me."

Judge Sharp asked, "You wouldn't have to account for money not turned over to you, would you?" She said if money and stubs might have been withheld by someone else. Judge Sharp said she wouldn't have received it and wouldn't be accountable.

There was a discussion on the stubs found in the quarterly boxes and whether she had placed them there.

Earlier, Brokaw said, "You say you don't want to accuse Frank Robinson of taking the money, that you wouldn't believe it?" "No, sir, I don't believe he would."

Recalls Her Statement

"Yet, you say he told you to keep it quiet?" "He said he 'would take care of it'."

"Why do you suppose he told you to keep it quiet?" "I don't know," she answered, going on to say that the Board of Public Utilities and Donald Duke, now superintendent, "assumed I took it."

Brokaw asked, "What other assumption is there, what else can I believe?" "You could check some other people," she said. Brokaw said, "Otherwise I have to believe Frank Robinson took the $11,000." She said, "I only tell you what I was told to do, I don't know anything else."

Brokaw turned to her interest in horse racing at Waterford Park where she said she went at times on her lunch hour at the department.

Played Daily Doubles

She said she played the daily doubles, and won heavily twice and about four or five other times. "Did you play other races?" "Yes, not very often."

"There are a lot of windows over there?" "Yes, a lot of windows and a lot of nice friendly people," she replied. "How much would you send over to bet?" "Sometimes $3 or $4, more if there was a long shot."

"I thought you said you won a lot?" "No one wins all the time." "You did play a lot?" "Yes, and with my own money, not the office's."

"Where did you get your information on the betting?" "From the newspapers." "Get any tips?" "No. Once a man gave me one." "What system did you use?"

'Enjoyed Racing'

"No system. I just enjoyed it. I liked to see the horses." "You spent money on it." "Yes, I enjoyed that part too." "The gambling?" "Yes."

"Ever go to the $50 window?" She smiled, "No, sir, I went mostly to the $2 windows."

"How did you get started?" "Oh, I heard the talk around the office about the horses and the bookies."

Brokaw looked at her with a grin. "Bookies, in East Liverpool?" She smiled, "Yes, from what I understand." "I'd be interested in that," he commented.

There was further questioning on two cars she bought, a smaller one in 1959 and an Oldsmobile in 1961 on which she said she traded the older auto and owed a mortgage lien.

The prosecutor returned to the books. "Your records were OK up to September 1959?" "Yes, sir." "Is there anything you want to say on that?" "No."

Questioned About Bills

He then questioned her about some of the bills for the period 1957-58 or before the audit period which she had held. Miss Smith explained that those bills were for "people who said they had paid and had receipts but for which we had no records of receiving it."

She said those bills had been "kept aside and held."

Brokaw asked, "Why, if you had received that money previously, did you sign these 'to cover shortages?'"

"I just signed the whole bunch of invoices that were turned over to the examiner," she answered wearily.

Brokaw read off checks from some of the customers who had paid the bills in the 1957-58 period, "This is pretty good evidence that these were paid?" "Yes."

HONORABLE MENTION

Larry Hogue and John Wilson, Salineville; Don Herriott and Dave Smith, East Palestine; Keith Berger and Gary Bookman, Beaver Local; Bob Parsons and Tom Kraft, East Liverpool; Dave Capel and Dick Starr, Salem; John Crestano and Larry Rupert, Crestview; Al Vignon and Don Masse, Leetonia; Bill Schnoyer and John Blanchard, United; Brian Arbuckle and Rick Perrin, Columbiana; Walter Thorn and Dave McPherson, Lisbon and Rodger Miller and Larry Baughman, Wellsville.

Columbiana, which compiled the top record among the district teams this past season, also dominated the 1962 All-County football squad picked by the county's 11 head coaches Monday night at the annual meeting held at the Travelers Hotel.

The Clippers took three spots on the dream team, and leading the way was Dale Murphy, the 190-pound halfback-fullback who was the top scorer in the district this season.

Murphy, who picked up 1,056 yards for the Clippers, was a four-year letter winner at Columbiana. He was joined on the first unit by teammates Ken Mahler, 220-pound center, and Bob Johnson, a 210-pound tackle.

The first unit is an all-senior eleven. In the backfield is Lisbon's fine passing quarterback. Larry McPherson, a 205 pounder considered by his Coach Bud Bucher as one of the finest passers in Ohio. Another spot went to Paul Conrad, who has been a dangerous broken field runner at Leetonia the past two seasons. The speedster weighs 155 pounds.

The other backfield position was awarded to Salem's Bill Beery who operated mostly at quarterback for Coach Blaine Morton, but was used occasionally at halfback.

East Liverpool's lone choice on the first team was won by Scott Musuraca, who was a terror at linebacker for the Potters this season. Musuraca gained a guard spot.

Beaver Local won two places on the charmed eleven when Gary Berhar was named at one end position and Dave Myers, a third-team All-Ohio choice last year, was placed at a guard.

Wellsville, Crestview and United failed to place a gridder on the first unit.

East Liverpool players named to the second team were Tom Graham, a tackle, and Randy Stover, an end, while honorable mention spots were given to Bob Parsons and Tom Kraft.

Next year's meeting will be held at Salem.

Four Regulars From Last Season Back; Tigers To Open Friday

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

WHS will mean "We Have Size" this year at Wellsville High School where Coach Jack McDevitt is flush with an array of veterans representing perhaps the tallest squad since the era of giant Clarence (Bevo) Francis.

Four returning regulars from last year plus height and strength on the bench make a rosy picture for McDevitt as he begins his sixth season with the Tigers.

The Orange and Black will floor the tallest squad in the district. But the overall strength of the team will hinge on shooting ability and consistency — stumbling points last year.

THE TIGER chief also feels the success of this year's rangy club also rests on the speed with which center Steve Baldwin recovers from corrective foot surgery this summer.

Baldwin, 6-5 senior, is still slowed by the effects of the operations and is not expected to be able to go full steam until around Christmas. But he's rejoined the squad and moves fairly well in practice, bothered only by soreness in his heels.

The lanky, two-year veteran scored 318 points as a junior and was tops in the rebounding department. Baldwin played a full schedule last year although frequently in pain.

The other returnees include:

MILTON Martin, 6-3 senior, who blossomed into a varsity star in the late stages of last season.

Ed Nelson, 6-3 senior, a strong rebounder who scored 155 points as a junior. "He's greatly improved and will be used either at guard or forward," McDevitt says.

Forrest Harris, 6-3 senior, fine rebounder but inconsistent as a shooter. He scored 82 points last year.

Jim Powell, 5-11 senior, fast and a good shot from the outside, scored 126 points last season and will probably start when the Tigers open Friday night against Lisbon.

McDEVITT can also draw on experience and speed in four other cagers who saw varsity duty previously.

They are Andy Dash, 5-11 senior who hits well from long range; Mark Leyda, 5-7 senior who is plenty fast but lacks experience; Alvin Thompson, 5-11 senior who gained a starting job early last year for a few games, and Don Welch, 5-10 senior, a southpaw and good shooter.

The remainder of the varsity contingent includes Terry Flesch, 6-2 junior, who has been a pleasant surprise for McDevitt thus far in pre-season drills, Lester Bennett and Tom Betz, up from the reserves.

The lone starter missing by graduation is Roger Ours, who was second leading scorer on the 1961 team that won nine, lost 11. Graduation also claimed Alvin Jackson, Jerry Hoskinson, Jim Luckino and John Euill, substitutes.

McDevitt declares he looks for only a "fair" season with Baldwin and a strong defense currently listed as question marks.

WELLSVILLE opens its 18-game schedule Friday night at Beacom Memorial Gym. The interior sparkles after a summer face-lifting that included painting of the roof and refinishing of the floors.

There are two new opponents on the schedule — Steubenville Big Red and Pittsburgh Central Catholic. Both will visit Beacom gym, the Steubenville team for the first time in several years in regular season.

McDevitt, a Newell native, starts his sixth season behind a 59-44 won-loss record at Wellsville. His squads went 7-13 in 1957; 14-7 in 1958; 16-5 in 1959; 13-8 in 1960 and 9-11 in 1961. The Tigers won the Sectional AA crown in 1960.

COACH Chick McMillan returns to pilot the Tiger reserves and is readying 12 new candidates for the opener. McMillan's exciting reserves of 1961 finished with a 12-5 record.

McMillan says the candidates have shown plenty of hustle thus far and several are considered outstanding shooters. Mick Comparatta, a freshman, is tallest at 6-2.

USC Wins National Title

Wisconsin, Rose Bowl Foe, Second

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unbeaten, untied Southern California was voted the 1962 national collegiate football championship in the final Associated Press poll today, the first West Coast team to be so honored since 1939.

The Trojans, who completed their perfect season by defeating Notre Dame 25-0 Saturday, polled 509 points to 428 for runner-up Wisconsin and drew 42 of a possible 52 first-place votes.

The balloting was done by sportswriters and broadcasters who are members of the AP poll board. Points are determined on a basis of 10 for first, 9 for second down to 1 for a 10th-place selection.

The rankings remained unchanged from a week ago with Mississippi's first all-winning team in history finishing third, unbeaten but once-tied Texas fourth, 1961 champion Alabama fifth, followed by Arkansas, Louisiana State, Oklahoma, Penn State and Minnesota in that order.

Southern Cal was the last Far West squad to capture a national title 23 years ago. In fact the men of Troy now own four of the five crowns worn on the Pacific slopes. The powerhouses of coach Howard Jones also were rated supreme in 1928 and 1931. Stanford got the nod in 1926.

The poll results sets up a Rose Bowl meeting between the No. 1 and 2 ranked teams. Southern Cal's Pasadena opponents, the Big Ten kings from Wisconsin, have hit the Top Ten for the third time in five seasons.

Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas—the latter two matched in the Sugar Bowl—have reached the select circle for the third straight year each.

Oklahoma, which will oppose 'Bama in the Orange Bowl classic, returns to the Top Ten after a three year absence. The Sooners made the grade 11 straight seasons in the period 1948 through 1958.

Cincy Rolls Over Virginia

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who's this Gary Bradds?

The college basketball season is just four days old, yet Bradds already has slid into Jerry Lucas' big shoes given Ohio State's new-era Buckeyes visions of another triumphant reign and caused the campaign's first effigy hanging.

Lucas' sophomore spear carrier, the 6-foot-8 Bradds came through with his second 30-point plus performance Monday night, carrying the supposedly weakened Buckeyes to an easy 84-59 triumph over highly regarded St. Louis for their 36th consecutive home court victory.

While Bradds was scoring his 31 points and carrying the Buckeyes-who weren't among the Top Ten in The Associated Press' preseason poll-to their second straight triumph, on the St. Louis campus Billikens' Coach John Benington was getting the hang-the-dummy treatment.

There also were fireworks in other parts of the country as top-ranked Cincinnati continued to steamroller lesser opposition, fourth-rated Loyola of Chicago reached the century-mark for the second consecutive game, Arizona shocked 10th - ranked Wisconsin and Michigan unveiled a sophomore sensation in Bill Buntin.

The Bearcats used Ron Bonham's career high 30 points to whack Virginia 91-42, Loyola blasted Noham's career high 30 points to whack Virginia 91-42, Loyola blasted North Dakota 110-56, Arizona upset Wisconsin 51-46 on a key three-point play by sophomore Al Johnson and Buntin scored 25 points and grabbed 22 rebounds in Michigan's 81-62 triumph over Creighton and Paul Silas.

Bradds put Ohio State out front to stay, 23-21, on a pair of foul shots as the Buckeyes spurted for 20 points in the last 6 minutes of the first half and overcame a short-lived St. Louis lead. Garry Garrison was high scorer for the Billikens with 22 points.

Bonham, who has taken over with Paul Hogue graduated and heralded sophomore Ron Krick sidelined for the year with a shoulder injury, contributed six points in a 10-point Cincinnati spree that sent the defending NCAA champs off to a commanding 13-4 lead over Virginia.

Cunningham Nets 4 In Cincinnati Win

East Liverpool's Kenny Cunningham scored four points on a pair of field goals in Cincinnati's romping 91-42 victory over Virginia Monday night at Cincinnati. Cunningham, a sophomore on the Bearcat squad, also dropped in four points in the opening victory Saturday night over DePauw and drew praise from the Cincy coaching staff for his outstanding defensive work. The former Potter star is not a starter but one of the first line substitutes.

Rams Get Baker, Top Draft Choice

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Football league labored into the wee small hours today to complete its marathon draft of 280 collegians. Before the last draw was made, two of the first round picks already had been signed.

Detroit and Baltimore grabbed a pair of Ohio State tackles and signed them on the spot. The Lions picked Daryl Sanders, a 6-foot-5, 237-pounder from Mayfield Heights, Ohio, and the Colts came up with Bob Vogel, another 6-5 giant from Massillon, Ohio.

Terry Baker, the cover boy quarterback from Oregon State and Heisman Award winner, was the No. 1 pick. The left-handed passer went to the Los Angeles Rams, last in the Western Conference, who have three quarterbacks — rookies Roman Gabriel and Ron Miller, and veteran Zeke Bratkowski.

Four first-round picks of the rival American Football League, made Saturday in Dallas, also were drafted in the first round by the NFL. They were halfbacks Jerry Stovall of Louisiana State, picked by St. Louis and the New York Titans; and Kermit Alexander of UCLA, San Francisco and Buffalo; and tackle Ed Budde of Michigan State, Philadelphia and the Dallas Texans.

Baker was the 12th-round selection of San Diego in the AFL which apparently felt he would play in the NFL or Canada.

There were many duplicate choices by the two leagues which now must battle for contract signatures along with the Canadian League.

Fans who may be puzzled by the absence of some of the big names must remember that several prominent players were picked as "futures" last year. The draft is restricted to seniors and men whose original college class will graduate in June. Those picked as futures still have a year of eligibility left although their original class graduates.

The pros concentrated on tackles in the early rounds until they had cleaned out most of the big boys. Twelve of the first 28 were tackles. Among them were: Mississippi's Ed Dunaway and Minnesota's Bobby Bell—both by Minnesota's Vikings; Purdue's Don Brumm (St. Louis), Washington's Ray Mansfield (Philadelphia); Oregon's Steve Barnett (Chicago); and Miami of Ohio's Tom Nomina (Los Angeles).

Several of the players have bowl games ahead or still plan to play basketball or a spring sport. They cannot sign of course until they have finished their amateur careers.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER TWO

"What can it mean?" gasped Mr. Shnoo, staring at the letter from S. Claus at Santa Land.

"Why not open it and see?" said Crookshank stiffly.

Mr. Shnoo tried but his fingers trembled so he could hardly hold the letter, let alone open it.

"Give it to me," snapped Crookshank. "I'll open it."

"Yes, yes," murmured Mr. Shnoo agitatedly. "Dear me, I am shaking all over!"

"You are like a child," taunted Crookshank. "You believe anything." He ripped open the envelope and drew out a letter written in red ink on the back of a piece of green and white striped wrapping paper. He read in silence.

Mr. Shnoo cried, "Out loud! Read it out loud!"

CROOKSHANK made a face and read aloud. "Dear Shnellingham Shnoo."

"Think of that!" interrupted Mr. Shnoo. "My whole name!"

"Do you want to hear it or not?" asked Crookshank rudely.

"Yes, yes. Read on!"

"Dear Shnellingham Shnoo,

"I have heard that you have a fine zoo and that there is nothing you cannot do with animals. If this is so I hope you will be willing to help me for I have a very serious problem.

"As you perhaps know. I have eight reindeer who fly me around the world each Christmas eve. These deer are wonderful creatures but they have been serving me for over 1,000 years and now, alas, old age is affecting them and I fear they will be unable to make the long trip again.

"I must have eight new reindeer before Christmas. Would it be possible for you to let me borrow them from your zoo? I know this is asking a great deal because I'm sure you hate to let your pets out of sight. However, I promise I will take good care of them and they will be happy.

"Sincerely,

MR. SHNOO beamed. "Think of it!" He took the letter from Crookshank and read the whole thing through again. When he reached the end he said, "But there's a postscript! You didn't read that!"

"It's humbug!" sniffed Crookshank.

"P.S." read Mr. Shnoo aloud. "Maybe I can be of help to you sometime if you should ever need me. Santa."

"Hump" said Crookshank.

Mr. Shnoo waved him away.

Mr. Shnoo read the letter from Santa Claus.

"The honor of it! My reindeer to carry Christmas all over the world!"

"Are you mad?" exclaimed Crookshank.

"I must go and tell them at once," said Mr. Shnoo.

"What do you mean?" asked Mr. Shnoo.

"Idiot!" yelled Crookshank. "Your reindeer can't fly!"

Mr. Shnoo's face fell. He sat down on a bench. "I hadn't thought of that."

THIS IS the way Mr. Shnoo acted when he was thinking. Usually it helped him to get his thoughts in order. It was especially useful when he had a decision to make.

But today nothing helped. Finally he got up and said, "I think I'll go have a look at them."

Off he went to the reindeer enclosure with Crookshank tagging along behind him. Mr. Shnoo leaned against the fence and gazed at the deer. They were not very handsome. They were short and heavy and thickbodied. But their antlers were magnificent and they were brave and gentle creatures.

Mr. Shnoo's face began to work. He wound one leg around the other and jiggled his elbows. He was thinking again.

Suddenly he straightened. "I'm sending a message to S. Claus," he said. "I'll tell him he can use my deer."

"But—" began Crookshank.

Mr. Shnoo smiled and rolled up his sleeves. "No buts," said he. "I shall teach them to fly!"

Musuraca, Murphy, Myers Gain Honorable Mention

★ ★ ★ Big Red's Wilson Voted Top Back ★ ★ ★

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Halfback Harry Wilson of Steubenville's Big Red and defensive tackle Tony Viertlboeck of Toledo Central Catholic's state champions today were named Ohio's top Class AA high school football players.

The two standouts paced the voting as the Associated Press named its All-Ohio team for the larger schools. The coaches, sports writers and officials who did the voting decided Wilson was "back of the year" and Viertlboeck the "lineman of the year."

East Liverpool's Scotty Musuraca, Dave Myers of Beaver Local and Dale Murphy of Columbiana were named on the honorable mention list for the 1962 All-Ohio honorable mention list.

The three gridders also were honored Monday night when they were named to first team berths on the All-County squad.

The Buckeye realm looms as the happiest of happy hunting grounds for talent-seeking collegiate coaches, for the all - state squad is filled with hot-shots of all kinds.

The mentors can't get a crack at the No. 1 quarterback for another year because Paul Walker Jr. of Middletown is only a junior. The tall son of famed basketball coach Paul Walker scored 35 points and pitched 23 touchdown passes during the season in which the Middies lost but once.

Wilson contributed 170 points to Steubenville's cause as the Big Red lost only to the state champions. His halfback running mate is 138-point Jim Detwiler of Toledo DeVilbiss, another team beaten only by Toledo Central's kings.

At fullback for the second year is Steward Williams of Sandusky's twice-tied team. Williams counted 102 points as he gained 1,394 yards in 193 tries—boosting his career total to 3,059 yards in 421 runs for 39 touchdowns and a 260-point total.

Bob (Butch) Walden, smallest of the offensive team at 5-foot-11 and 170 pounds, gave Middletown its second All-Ohio choice as he moved in at end opposite 6-4, 230-pound Dick Himes of Canton South. Walden, credited with some impossible catches, caught 42 for 12 touchdowns during the campaign.

Glenn (Tiger) Ellison, Middletown mentor and 1961 coach of the year, said, "Walden caught some that just couldn't be caught. And Walker will be with us for another year. Life is wonderful."

Lorain Admiral King, winner of nine straight before bowing to Sandusky in the finale, placed Don Downing at tackle to anchor the offensive line opposite Viertlboeck. The guards are Don Ferguson of Lima Senior and Gary Windle of second-ranked Warren Harding, while Massillon's nine-time champions — despite their poorest season in years — won some solace as 265-pound Ben Bradley won the center job.

Some two-way stars who also shone on defense were moved off the offensive unit due to the heavy voting for the winners. among the standouts at ball-toting who wound up as defensive choices were Frank Dugan, Canton South's great fullback; Joe Koar, fullback for Admiral King, and Bo Rein of 1961 champion Niles who was hampered by injuries.

Viertlboeck's selection as lineman of the year was the third laurel for Toledo Central. The team won the state championship and the Rutgers Hall of Fame trophy, and Mentor Tom McHugh was selected the Class AA coach of the year.

New Laurels will come to some of the seniors this weekend as the state's scholastic coaches gather here to name the all-star teams for the North - South game next August at Canton. Selection to a berth on the Associated Press All-Ohio, recognized as official by the coaches, gives extra points to players in the North-South voting.

Eleven former players and one coach will go into the Hall of Fame. The coach to be inducted is Tuss McLaughery, who was head man at Dartmouth and Brown.

HONORABLE MENTION

Larry Hogue and John Wilson, Salineville; Don Herriott and Dave Smith, East Palestine; Keith Berger and Gary Bookman, Beaver Local; Bob Parsons and Tom Kraft, East Liverpool; Dave Capel and Dick Starr, Salem; John Crestano and Larry Rupert, Crestview; Al Vignon and Don Masse, Leetonia; Bill Schnoyer and John Blanchard, United; Brian Arbuckle and Rick Perrin, Columbiana; Walter Thorn and Dave McPherson, Lisbon and Rodger Miller and Larry Baughman, Wellsville.

Columbiana, which compiled the top record among the district teams this past season, also dominated the 1962 All-County football squad picked by the county's 11 head coaches Monday night at the annual meeting held at the Travelers Hotel.

The Clippers took three spots on the dream team, and leading the way was Dale Murphy, the 190-pound halfback-fullback who was the top scorer in the district this season.

Murphy, who picked up 1,056 yards for the Clippers, was a four-year letter winner at Columbiana. He was joined on the first unit by teammates Ken Mahler, 220-pound center, and Bob Johnson, a 210-pound tackle.

The first unit is an all-senior eleven. In the backfield is Lisbon's fine passing quarterback, Larry McPherson, a 205 pounder considered by his Coach Bud Bucher as one of the finest passers in Ohio. Another spot went to Paul Conrad, who has been a dangerous broken field runner at Leetonia the past two seasons. The speedster weighs 155 pounds.

The other backfield position was awarded to Salem's Bill Beery who operated mostly at quarterback for Coach Blaine Morton, but was used occasionally at halfback.

East Liverpool's lone choice on the first team was won by Scott Musuraca, who was a terror at linebacker for the Potters this season. Musuraca gained a guard spot.

Beaver Local won two places on the charmed eleven when Gary Berhar was named at one end position and Dave Myers, a third-team All-Ohio choice last year, was placed at a guard.

Wellsville, Crestview and United failed to place a gridder on the first unit.

East Liverpool players named to the second team were Tom Graham, a tackle, and Randy Stover, an end, while honorable mention spots were given to Bob Parsons and Tom Kraft.

Next year's meeting will be held at Salem.

Four Regulars From Last Season Back; Tigers To Open Friday

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

WHS will mean "We Have Size" this year at Wellsville High School where Coach Jack McDevitt is flush with an array of veterans representing perhaps the tallest squad since the era of giant Clarence (Bevo) Francis.

Four returning regulars from last year plus height and strength on the bench make a rosy picture for McDevitt as he begins his sixth season with the Tigers.

The Orange and Black will floor the tallest squad in the district. But the overall strength of the team will hinge on shooting ability and consistency — stumbling points last year.

THE TIGER chief also feels the success of this year's rangy club also rests on the speed with which center Steve Baldwin recovers from corrective foot surgery this summer.

Baldwin, 6-5 senior, is still slowed by the effects of the operations and is not expected to be able to go full steam until around Christmas. But he's rejoined the squad and moves fairly well in practice, bothered only by soreness in his heels.

The lanky, two-year veteran scored 318 points as a junior and was tops in the rebounding department. Baldwin played a full schedule last year although frequently in pain.

The other returnees include:

MILTON Martin, 6-3 senior, who blossomed into a varsity star in the late stages of last season.

Ed Nelson, 6-3 senior, a strong rebounder who scored 155 points as a junior. "He's greatly improved and will be used either at guard or forward," McDevitt says.

Jim Powell, 5-11 senior, fast and a good shot from the outside, scored 126 points last season and will probably start when the Tigers open Friday night against Lisbon.

McDEVITT can also draw on experience and speed in four other cagers who saw varsity duty previously.

They are Andy Dash, 5-11 senior who hits well from long range; Mark Leyda, 5-7 senior who is plenty fast but lacks experience; Alvin Thompson, 5-11 senior who gained a starting job early last year for a few games, and Don Welch, 5-10 senior, a southpaw and good shooter.

The remainder of the varsity contingent includes Terry Flesch, 6-2 junior, who has been a pleasant surprise for McDevitt thus far in pre-season drills, Lester Bennett and Tom Retz, up from the reserves.

WELLSVILLE opens its 18-game schedule Friday night at Beacom Memorial Gym. The interior sparkles after a summer face-lifting that included painting of the roof and refinishing of the floors.

There are two new opponents on the schedule — Steubenville Big Red and Pittsburgh Central Catholic. Both will visit Beacom gym, the Steubenville team for the first time in several years in regular season.

McDevitt, a Newell native, starts his sixth season behind a 59-44 won-loss record at Wellsville. His squads went 7-13 in 1957; 14-7 in 1958; 16-5 in 1959; 13-8 in 1960 and 9-11 in 1961. The Tigers won the Sectional AA crown in 1960.

COACH Chick McMillan returns to pilot the Tiger reserves and is readying 12 new candidates for the opener. McMillan's exciting reserves of 1961 finished with a 12-5 record.

McMillan says the candidates have shown plenty of hustle thus far and several are considered outstanding shooters. Mick Comparatta, a freshman, is tallest at 6-2.

OLD LYME, Conn. (AP)—William Seaver Woods, 90, editor-in-chief of the old Literary Digest from 1897 to 1933, died Monday after a short illness. He served as editor of the New York State Journal of Medicine from 1934 to 1940.

USC Wins National Title

Wisconsin, Rose Bowl Foe, Second

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unbeaten, untied Southern California was voted the 1962 national collegiate football championship in the final Associated Press poll today, the first West Coast team to be so honored since 1939.

The Trojans, who completed their perfect season by defeating Notre Dame 25-0 Saturday, polled 509 points to 428 for runner-up Wisconsin and drew 42 of a possible 52 first-place votes.

The balloting was done by sportswriters and broadcasters who are members of the AP poll board. Points are determined on a basis of 10 for first, 9 for second down to 1 for a 10th-place selection.

The rankings remained unchanged from a week ago with Mississippi's first all-winning team in history finishing third, unbeaten but once-tied Texas fourth, 1961 champion Alabama fifth, followed by Arkansas, Louisiana State, Oklahoma, Penn State and Minnesota in that order.

Southern Cal was the last Far West squad to capture a national title 23 years ago. In fact the men of Troy now own four of the five crowns worn on the Pacific slopes. The powerhouses of coach Howard Jones also were rated supreme in 1928 and 1931. Stanford got the nod in 1926.

The poll results sets up a Rose Bowl meeting between the No. 1 and 2 ranked teams. Southern Cal's Pasadena opponents, the Big Ten kings from Wisconsin, have hit the Top Ten for the third time in five seasons.

Oklahoma, which will oppose 'Bama in the Orange Bowl classic, returns to the Top Ten after a three year absence. The Sooners made the grade 11 straight seasons in the period 1948 through 1958.

Fight Results

Rams Get Baker, Top Draft Choice

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Football league labored into the wee small hours today to complete its marathon draft of 280 collegians. Before the last draw was made, two of the first round picks already had been signed.

Detroit and Baltimore grabbed a pair of Ohio State tackles and signed them on the spot. The Lions picked Daryl Sanders, a 6-foot-5, 237-pounder from Mayfield Heights, Ohio, and the Colts came up with Bob Vogel, another 6-5 giant from Massillon, Ohio.

Terry Baker, the cover boy quarterback from Oregon State and Heisman Award winner, was the No. 1 pick. The left-handed passer went to the Los Angeles Rams, last in the Western Conference, who have three quarterbacks — rookies Roman Gabriel and Ron Miller, and veteran Zeke Bratkowski.

Four first-round picks of the rival American Football League, made Saturday in Dallas, also were drafted in the first round by the NFL. They were halfbacks Jerry Stovall of Louisiana State, picked by St. Louis and the New York Titans; and Kermit Alexander of UCLA, San Francisco and Buffalo; and tackle Ed Budde of Michigan State, Philadelphia and the Dallas Texans.

Baker was the 12th-round selection of San Diego in the AFL which apparently felt he would play in the NFL or Canada.

There were many duplicate choices by the two leagues which now must battle for contract signatures along with the Canadian League.

Fans who may be puzzled by the absence of some of the big names must remember that several prominent players were picked as "futures" last year. The draft is restricted to seniors and men whose original college class will graduate in June. Those picked as futures still have a year of eligibility left although their original class graduates.

The pros concentrated on tackles in the early rounds until they had cleaned out most of the big boys. Twelve of the first 28 were tackles. Among them were: Mississippi's Ed Dunaway and Minnesota's Bobby Bell—both by Minnesota's Vikings; Purdue's Don Brumm (St. Louis), Washington's Ray Mansfield (Philadelphia); Oregon's Steve Barnett (Chicago); and Miami of Ohio's Tom Nomina (Los Angeles).

Several of the players have bowl games ahead or still plan to play basketball or a spring sport. They cannot sign of course until they have finished their amateur careers.

Cincy Rolls Over Virginia

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who's this Gary Bradds?

The college basketball season is just four days old, yet Bradds already has slid into Jerry Lucas' big shoes given Ohio State's new-era Buckeyes visions of another triumphant reign and caused the campaign's first effigy hanging.

Lucas' sophomore spear carrier, the 6-foot-8 Bradds came through with his second 30-point plus performance Monday night, carrying the supposedly weakened Buckeyes to an easy 84-59 triumph over highly regarded St. Louis for their 36th consecutive home court victory.

While Bradds was scoring his 31 points and carrying the Buckeyes-who weren't among the Top Ten in The Associated Press' preseason poll-to their second straight triumph, on the St. Louis campus Billikens' Coach John Benington was getting the hang-the-dummy treatment.

There also were fireworks in other parts of the country as top-ranked Cincinnati continued to steamroller lesser opposition, fourth-rated Loyola of Chicago reached the century-mark for the second consecutive game, Arizona shocked 10th - ranked Wisconsin and Michigan unveiled a sophomore sensation in Bill Buntin.

The Bearcats used Ron Bonham's career high 30 points to whack Virginia 91-42, Loyola blasted Noham's career high 30 points to whack Virginia 91-42, Loyola blasted North Dakota 110-56, Arizona upset Wisconsin 51-46 on a key three-point play by sophomore Al Johnson and Buntin scored 25 points and grabbed 22 rebounds in Michigan's 81-62 triumph over Creighton and Paul Silas.

Bradds put Ohio State out front to stay, 23-21, on a pair of foul shots as the Buckeyes spurted for 20 points in the last 6 minutes of the first half and overcame a short-lived St. Louis lead. Garry Garrison was high scorer for the Billikens with 22 points.

Bonham, who has taken over with Paul Hogue graduated and heralded sophomore Ron Krick sidelined for the year with a shoulder injury, contributed six points in a 10-point Cincinnati spree that sent the defending NCAA champs off to a commanding 13-4 lead over Virginia.

Cunningham Nets 4 In Cincinnati Win

East Liverpool's Kenny Cunningham scored four points on a pair of field goals in Cincinnati's romping 91-42 victory over Virginia Monday night at Cincinnati. Cunningham, a sophomore on the Bearcat squad, also dropped in four points in the opening victory Saturday night over DePauw and drew praise from the Cincy coaching staff for his outstanding defensive work. The former Potter star is not a starter but one of the first line substitutes.

NEW CUMBERLAND — Nine players broke into the scoring column as Coach John Kuzio's New Cumberland five rolled to a 62-53 opening game victory over Sherrard here Monday night.

Dennis Carnes and Bob Manypenny shared the scoring honors for the Raiders with 13 each while Ken Freshwater chipped in with 10. Dean of Sherrard was the top scorer of the evening with 17.

New Cumberland's reserve forces made it a clean sweep with a 64-24 win in the preliminary.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

'Show Of Week' Remains Dependable Series

As the thuds and clunks begin to reverberate in television's Fallen Rock Zone — and the first to fall is ABC's Roy Rogers-Dale Evans opus — it's nice to know that there's one time slot that's as sturdy as Gibraltar.

Alan Gill

I mean the Sunday night hour over at NBC that has "Show of the Week" as its star boarder, with Dinah Shore, the "Telephone Hour," and some NBC News specials as occasional guests.

If I've said it once, NBC, I've said it 100 times: "Show of the Week" is the most dependable drama series around.

OH, THERE ARE clinkers once in awhile. But last Sunday, "Show" had a tasty bit of salt water taffy for us to chew on. It was called "Mutiny" and starred Dana Andrews and Robert Walker.

But "Show" has been creating an even greater stir with such documentaries as "Fire Rescue" and "Emergency Ward." And the preceding Sunday night, the same bunch who produced "Emergency Squad" for "Show" came up with an NBC News special called "The Chosen Child." It was a smash all the way.

IN THIS STUDY of child adoption, the producers had the good luck to have a couple of attractive people, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Agosta, recalling and re-enacting their experiences with an adoption agency in White Plains, N.Y.

Under the naked glare of the arc lamps, the Agostas could not have been more natural and believable. The children (and we saw a lot of them) were just great.

There were three very moving moments in "The Chosen Child." In the first, we were shown a number of kids available for adoption, as the narrator, John Chancellor, told us that the "perfect blue-eyed infant girls" are snapped up first.

"Richard's blood does not clot correctly. To him a simply injury could be a catastrophe.

Then there was the moment when two successfully placed boys, Joe and John, discussed adoption. John, a very small kid, summed the matter up once and for all with the words: "It would be more fun than just having a wife."

He went on to explain: "I mean, say your wife is sick or in the hospital or something and you couldn't go there always — all the time. Your children would be there, and you could talk to them, play with them."

FINALLY, there was the moment when the case worker delivered the infant to his new parents. Joan Agosta, playing with the baby: "I'll bet you don't know who you are." Her husband, holding the child closely, said, "Sam, Junior."

The program, however, wasn't all lump-in-the-throat. It contained some frank and saddening words about interracial adoption and had a running argument over agency versus private adoption.

I don't think there has been anything as thoughtful or touching on television in weeks. The producing - directing - writing team responsible is Frank DeFelitta and Robert Northshield, and they should be sent a gold cup or a pocket watch or a lifetime supply of apple pie. Something.

SID CAESAR, on the other hand, should be sent a writer, quick. The second installment of "As Caesar Sees It" was a loud, humorless, frantic, badly written, badly directed, terribly scored, downright humiliating, total disaster.

Man, 33, Bound Over For Television Theft

Accused of stealing a television set from the Central Service Appliance Co. of W. 7th St., a 33-year - old Glenmoor man was bound over to the Grand Jury Monday following a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court.

James Meighen of MC Route 22 was held for the Grand Jury on a grand larceny charge by Acting Judge Paul Tobin, who set his bond at $500.

Meighen was turned over to police Thursday night after being nabbed by Frank Mangano, an official of the firm, and Jack Young, sales manager, at W. 6th and Jackson Sts.

Two North Side boys, 14 and 15, who said they had been asked by Meighen to help him carry the set, appeared as witnesses. They were not held, police said.

Cubs, Scouts Meet Jointly

Uniform inspection was held by Colin Brown of the Cherokee District commissioner's staff at the monthly meeting of Cub Pack 60 of St. Ann Catholic Church Friday night in the church hall. Members of Boy Scout Troop 60 were present and also were inspected.

Robert Hocking, institutional representative, announced that Jonathan Ramsey, a den chief and a member of Troop 60, has passed the examination for the Ad Altare Dei award, highest award in Catholic Boy Scouting, and it will be presented this month at St. Columba Cathedral in Youngstown.

A skit, "Big Turkey Hunt," was presented by the boys of Den 2 with Ramsey as narrator. Games were played. The mothers served refreshments.

Pack and troop committees will meet Friday night at 7:30 to discuss arrangements for the annual Christmas party Dec. 21. Both unit charters will be reviewed.

Any boy interested in becoming a Cub or a Boy Scout may call 385-1192 for information, Ramsey said.

3 Unions May Join Strike In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Indications were that three craft unions might join the strike against Cleveland's two major daily newspapers as more talks were scheduled today in an attempt to end the walkout.

Unions representing pressmen, stereotypers and photoengravers at the morning Plain Dealer and the afternoon Cleveland Press and News have indicated they also may strike the newspapers.

Federal mediator Gilbert J. Seldin said the unions had notified him by telegram that they would "be compelled to take action in accordance with our legal rights" unless there were further negotitions on their contracts with the papers.

Big Red's Wilson Voted Top Back

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Halfback Harry Wilson of Steubenville's Big Red and defensive tackle Tony Viertlboeck of Toledo Central Catholic's state champions today were named Ohio's top Class AA high school football players.

The two standouts paced the voting as the Associated Press named its All-Ohio team for the larger schools. The coaches, sports writers and officials who did the voting decided Wilson was "back of the year" and Viertlboeck the "lineman of the year."

East Liverpool's Scotty Musuraca, Dave Myers of Beaver Local and Dale Murphy of Columbiana were named on the honorable mention list for the 1962 All-Ohio honorable mention list.

The three gridders also were honored Monday night when they were named to first team berths on the All-County squad.

The Buckeye realm looms as the happiest of happy hunting grounds for talent-seeking collegiate coaches, for the all - state squad is filled with hot-shots of all kinds.

The mentors can't get a crack at the No. 1 quarterback for another year because Paul Walker Jr. of Middletown is only a junior. The tall son of famed basketball coach Paul Walker scored 35 points and pitched 23 touchdown passes during the season in which the Middies lost but once.

Wilson contributed 170 points to Steubenville's cause as the Big Red lost only to the state champions. His halfback running mate is 138-point Jim Detwiler of Toledo DeVilbiss, another team beaten only by Toledo Central's kings.

At fullback for the second year is Steward Williams of Sandusky's twice-tied team. Williams counted 102 points as he gained 1,394 yards in 193 tries—boosting his career total to 3,059 yards in 421 runs for 39 touchdowns and a 260-point total.

Bob (Butch) Walden, smallest of the offensive team at 5-foot-11 and 170 pounds, gave Middletown its second All-Ohio choice as he moved in at end opposite 6-4, 230-pound Dick Himes of Canton South. Walden, credited with some impossible catches, caught 42 for 12 touchdowns during the campaign.

Glenn (Tiger) Ellison, Middletown mentor and 1961 coach of the year, said, "Walden caught some that just couldn't be caught. And Walker will be with us for another year. Life is wonderful."

Lorain Admiral King, winner of nine straight before bowing to Sandusky in the finale, placed Don Downing at tackle to anchor the offensive line opposite Viertlboeck. The guards are Don Ferguson of Lima Senior and Gary Windle of second-ranked Warren Harding, while Massillon's nine-time champions — despite their poorest season in years — won some solace as 265-pound Ben Bradley won the center job.

Some two-way stars who also shone on defense were moved off the offensive unit due to the heavy voting for the winners. among the standouts at ball-toting who wound up as defensive choices were Frank Dugan, Canton South's great fullback; Joe Koar, fullback for Admiral King, and Bo Rein of 1961 champion Niles who was hampered by injuries.

Viertlboeck's selection as lineman of the year was the third laurel for Toledo Central. The team won the state championship and the Rutgers Hall of Fame trophy, and Mentor Tom McHugh was selected the Class AA coach of the year.

New Laurels will come to some of the seniors this weekend as the state's scholastic coaches gather here to name the all-star teams for the North - South game next August at Canton. Selection to a berth on the Associated Press All-Ohio, recognized as official by the coaches, gives extra points to players in the North-South voting.

The end crew is headed by Kentucky's Tom Hutchinson and Boston College's Art Graham, with such other standouts in the line as tackles Bob Vogel of Ohio State and Don Brumm of Purdue, and guard Ed Budde of Michigan State.

USC Squad, Byron White To Be Honored At Dinner

NEW YORK (AP) — Southern California's unbeaten, untied Trojans, 12 new Hall of Fame inductees, and Associated Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White will be honored tonight at the annual awards dinner of the National Football Foundation.

The Trojans, who last Saturday completed their first perfect season in 30 years, will receive the MacArthur Bowl as the top college team in the country. The MacArthur Bowl previously has been won by Syracuse, Minnesota and Alabama.

White, known as Whizzer during his collegiate days at Colorado, and already a Hall of Fame member, will receive the Gold Medal Award for contribution to the game. Eleven former players and one coach will go into the Hall of Fame. The coach to be inducted is Tuss McLaughery, who was head man at Dartmouth and Brown.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Good Books Made More Available

Some very good new and attractive books for children of elementary school age to read and for reading to the baby and young child are appearing. Yet not nearly all these new books are as good as many other books which have stood the test of time but are out of print. Your librarian can show you some of the best books for young children, but you might not be able to find many of them at a bookstore. Yet there has been, in recent years, a very encouraging development in relation to these great books and more are being reprinted and made available at relatively low cost to the consumer.

Dr Garry Meyers

IN SPITE OF the rising rates of postage, teachers and parents are being told directly about these books by announcements through the mails.

Seeing the financial success of book clubs for adults, some publishers of books and children's magazines are developing similar clubs for children. These publishers are selecting for their offerings not only current books, but also books which have stood the test of time. Printing such books in large quantities, they are able to make them available at a relatively low price.

As a result of this development parents are informed about many of the best books for children and of ways to secure these books within a limited family budget.

This movement must cheer the heart of the alert librarian, who is eager that as many children as possible have the best books that ever have been printed.

OF COURSE, MANY parents may soon be so flooded with attractive mailing pieces about arrays of books for children as to feel confused, even frustrated. These parents may recognize some titles of books they themselves enjoyed as children and some other books their own children have borrowed from the library and enjoyed reading.

The librarian will always be glad to show us a number of the best books for children and tell us of the value of other books not in her library. She knows books better than most of us do. So when we attempt to evaluate the group of books about which we receive mailing pieces, we might be wise to confer with the librarian of the children's department.

Unfortunately, we don't often find reviews of the best books published long ago; perhaps we can hope before long to see more of such reviews.

OF COURSE, IT isn't enough to have an abundance of the best books at home for our children. They also need to read them and enjoy reading them.

So anything we can do at home to help our children, beginning in the early grades, to read well and to cultivate the habit of reading will cause this newer development in the distribution of books to prove worthwhile.

My bulletins, "Why Read to Baby and Young Child?" and "Home Helps for Poor Readers I and II", may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Out Of The Air

'Show Of Week' Remains Dependable Series

As the thuds and clunks begin to reverberate in television's Fallen Rock Zone — and the first to fall is ABC's Roy Rogers-Dale Evans opus — it's nice to know that there's one time slot that's as sturdy as Gibraltar.

Alan Gill

I mean the Sunday night hour over at NBC that has "Show of the Week" as its star boarder, with Dinah Shore, the "Telephone Hour," and some NBC News specials as occasional guests.

If I've said it once, NBC, I've said it 100 times: "Show of the Week" is the most dependable drama series around.

OH, THERE ARE clinkers once in awhile. But last Sunday, "Show" had a tasty bit of salt water taffy for us to chew on. It was called "Mutiny" and starred Dana Andrews and Robert Walker.

But "Show" has been creating an even greater stir with such documentaries as "Fire Rescue" and "Emergency Ward." And the preceding Sunday night, the same bunch who produced "Emergency Squad" for "Show" came up with an NBC News special called "The Chosen Child." It was a smash all the way.

IN THIS STUDY of child adoption, the producers had the good luck to have a couple of attractive people, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Agosta, recalling and re-enacting their experiences with an adoption agency in White Plains, N.Y.

Under the naked glare of the arc lamps, the Agostas could not have been more natural and believable. The children (and we saw a lot of them) were just great.

There were three very moving moments in "The Chosen Child." In the first, we were shown a number of kids available for adoption, as the narrator, John Chancellor, told us that the "perfect blue-eyed infant girls" are snapped up first.

"Richard's blood does not clot correctly. To him a simply injury could be a catastrophe.

"Frank is deaf. Carol is a slow child. Jay's only handicap is his age. At 11, he's probably too old to be adopted." And so on.

Then there was the moment when two successfully placed boys, Joe and John, discussed adoption. John, a very small kid, summed the matter up once and for all with the words: "It would be more fun than just having a wife."

He went on to explain: "I mean, say your wife is sick or in the hospital or something and you couldn't go there always — all the time. Your children would be there, and you could talk to them, play with them."

FINALLY, there was the moment when the case worker delivered the infant to his new parents. Joan Agosta, playing with the baby: "I'll bet you don't know who you are." Her husband, holding the child closely, said, "Sam, Junior."

The program, however, wasn't all lump-in-the-throat. It contained some frank and saddening words about interracial adoption and had a running argument over agency versus private adoption.

I don't think there has been anything as thoughtful or touching on television in weeks. The producing - directing - writing team responsible is Frank DeFelitta and Robert Northshield, and they should be sent a gold cup or a pocket watch or a lifetime supply of apple pie. Something.

SID CAESAR, on the other hand, should be sent a writer, quick. The second installment of "As Caesar Sees It" was a loud, humorless, frantic, badly written, badly directed, terribly scored, downright humiliating, total disaster.

Man, 33, Bound Over For Television Theft

Accused of stealing a television set from the Central Service Appliance Co. of W. 7th St., a 33-year - old Glenmoor man was bound over to the Grand Jury Monday following a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court.

James Meighen of MC Route 22 was held for the Grand Jury on a grand larceny charge by Acting Judge Paul Tobin, who set his bond at $500.

Meighen was turned over to police Thursday night after being nabbed by Frank Mangano, an official of the firm, and Jack Young, sales manager, at W. 6th and Jackson Sts.

Two North Side boys, 14 and 15, who said they had been asked by Meighen to help him carry the set, appeared as witnesses. They were not held, police said.

Airman Reassigned

Cubs, Scouts Meet Jointly

Uniform inspection was held by Colin Brown of the Cherokee District commissioner's staff at the monthly meeting of Cub Pack 60 of St. Ann Catholic Church Friday night in the church hall. Members of Boy Scout Troop 60 were present and also were inspected.

Robert Hocking, institutional representative, announced that Jonathan Ramsey, a den chief and a member of Troop 60, has passed the examination for the Ad Altare Dei award, highest award in Catholic Boy Scouting, and it will be presented this month at St. Columba Cathedral in Youngstown.

A skit, "Big Turkey Hunt," was presented by the boys of Den 2 with Ramsey as narrator. Games were played. The mothers served refreshments.

Pack and troop committees will meet Friday night at 7:30 to discuss arrangements for the annual Christmas party Dec. 21. Both unit charters will be reviewed.

Any boy interested in becoming a Cub or a Boy Scout may call 385-1192 for information, Ramsey said.

3 Unions May Join Strike In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Indications were that three craft unions might join the strike against Cleveland's two major daily newspapers as more talks were scheduled today in an attempt to end the walkout.

Unions representing pressmen, stereotypers and photoengravers at the morning Plain Dealer and the afternoon Cleveland Press and News have indicated they also may strike the newspapers.

Federal mediator Gilbert J. Seldin said the unions had notified him by telegram that they would "be compelled to take action in accordance with our legal rights" unless there were further negotitions on their contracts with the papers.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Good Books Made More Available

Some very good new and attractive books for children of elementary school age to read and for reading to the baby and young child are appearing. Yet not nearly all these new books are as good as many other books which have stood the test of time but are out of print. Your librarian can show you some of the best books for young children, but you might not be able to find many of them at a bookstore. Yet there has been, in recent years, a very encouraging development in relation to these great books and more are being reprinted and made available at relatively low cost to the consumer.

IN SPITE OF the rising rates of postage, teachers and parents are being told directly about these books by announcements through the mails.

Seeing the financial success of book clubs for adults, some publishers of books and children's magazines are developing similar clubs for children. These publishers are selecting for their offerings not only current books, but also books which have stood the test of time. Printing such books in large quantities, they are able to make them available at a relatively low price.

As a result of this development, parents are informed about many of the best books for children and of ways to secure these books within a limited family budget.

This movement must cheer the heart of the alert librarian, who is eager that as many children as possible have the best books that ever have been printed.

OF COURSE, MANY parents may soon be so flooded with attractive mailing pieces about arrays of books for children as to feel confused, even frustrated. These parents may recognize some titles of books they themselves enjoyed as children and some other books their own children have borrowed from the library and enjoyed reading.

The librarian will always be glad to show us a number of the best books for children and tell us of the value of other books not in her library. She knows books better than most of us do. So when we attempt to evaluate the group of books about which we receive mailing pieces, we might be wise to confer with the librarian of the children's department.

Unfortunately, we don't often find reviews of the best books published long ago; perhaps we can hope before long to see more of such reviews.

OF COURSE, IT isn't enough to have an abundance of the best books at home for our children. They also need to read them and enjoy reading them.

So anything we can do at home to help our children, beginning in the early grades, to read well and to cultivate the habit of reading will cause this newer development in the distribution of books to prove worthwhile.

My bulletins, "Why Read to Baby and Young Child?" and "Home Helps for Poor Readers I and II", may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

The community of Hundred, W. Va., received its name from its first settlers, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Church, who each lived past the century mark. Church died at the age of 109, Mrs. Church at 106.

Battery, License Tag Stolen Off City Autos

John S. Shamp, 1356 Etruria St., told officers a 12-volt battery was taken from his 1956 model auto while it was parked at his home between 4 p. m. Sunday and 6:04 a. m. yesterday.

Arthur Gilson of Swanton, Ohio, told officers a license tag, 644-Z, was stolen from the rear of his auto last night about 7:10 while it was parked on W. 6th St. Gilson said he is residing temporarily at Waterford Park Race Track.

Navy Enlists 6 From Area

Six men, including two from East Liverpool and Wellsville, enlisted in the Navy during November, Chief Kenneth Brooks, local recruiter, said today.

Gary L. Steffen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Steffen, 444 1st Ave., and Thomas R. Weir, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Weir of Wellsville R. D. 1, were the area enlistees.

The other enlistees were David J. Reader and James D. Gibbs, both of Salem, and David A. Cody of Columbiana, all of whom are training at San Diego, and George Klepack of Weirton, who is training at Great Lakes.

Chief Brooks announced men enlisting beween Dec. 18 and Dec. 31 can be granted up to 14 days' leave. The leave will not affect their recruit leave in any way, he emphasized.

Junior Editors Quiz on CLOWNS

QUESTION: What is the story of clowns?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The ancestors of clowns were actors in Greek and Roman days who wore padded clothes, were baldheaded and acted stupidly to amuse the audience. Kings of many countries made a habit of having gay entertainers, such as the jester whom we show, with his cap and bells. These "fools" were often very smart and held their position in the king's household by sharp wits as well as by silly jokes. The famous character of pantomine, "Harlequin," with his traditional costume covered with large diamond-shaped blocks of color, began to be seen in Italy in the 1500's and paved the way for the appearance of the true clown. Joseph Grimaldi, the original of the circus clown, was the one who started the tradition of painting the face white. His nickname Joey became so famous that circus clowns are often called Joeys. Clowns provide relief between the daring acts of the circus. They are always trying to do impossible things; the regular performer succeeds in what he attempts; the clown fails, which is one of the main reasons why he is funny.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Each clown has his special "face," or way of making up to make himself look funny. Make a drawing to give your own idea of what would be a funny face.

★ ★ ★

Dorothy Pollex of Redwood City, Calif., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review, and you may win $10 or the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Please give me some tips on the cleaning of jewelry.

A. A teaspoon of ammonia, added to a cup of water, and applied with a clean cloth, will clean gold and silver jewelry. Crystal beads strung on a chain that has tarnished may be renewed by placing in a wide-mouthed jar half-filled with warm mild suds to which a teaspoon of baking soda has been added. Shake occasionally, then dry in jewelers sawdust.

Q. How can I improve the appearance of black material when laundering?

A. Whether it is silk, cotton, or wool, if the black material is rinsed in deep bluing water, this will improve the appearance and the color.

Q. How can I boil an egg that is cracked?

A. Add a little vinegar to the water that is used for the boiling, and the white of the egg will not boil out.

Q. How can I prevent white enamel from turning yellow later?

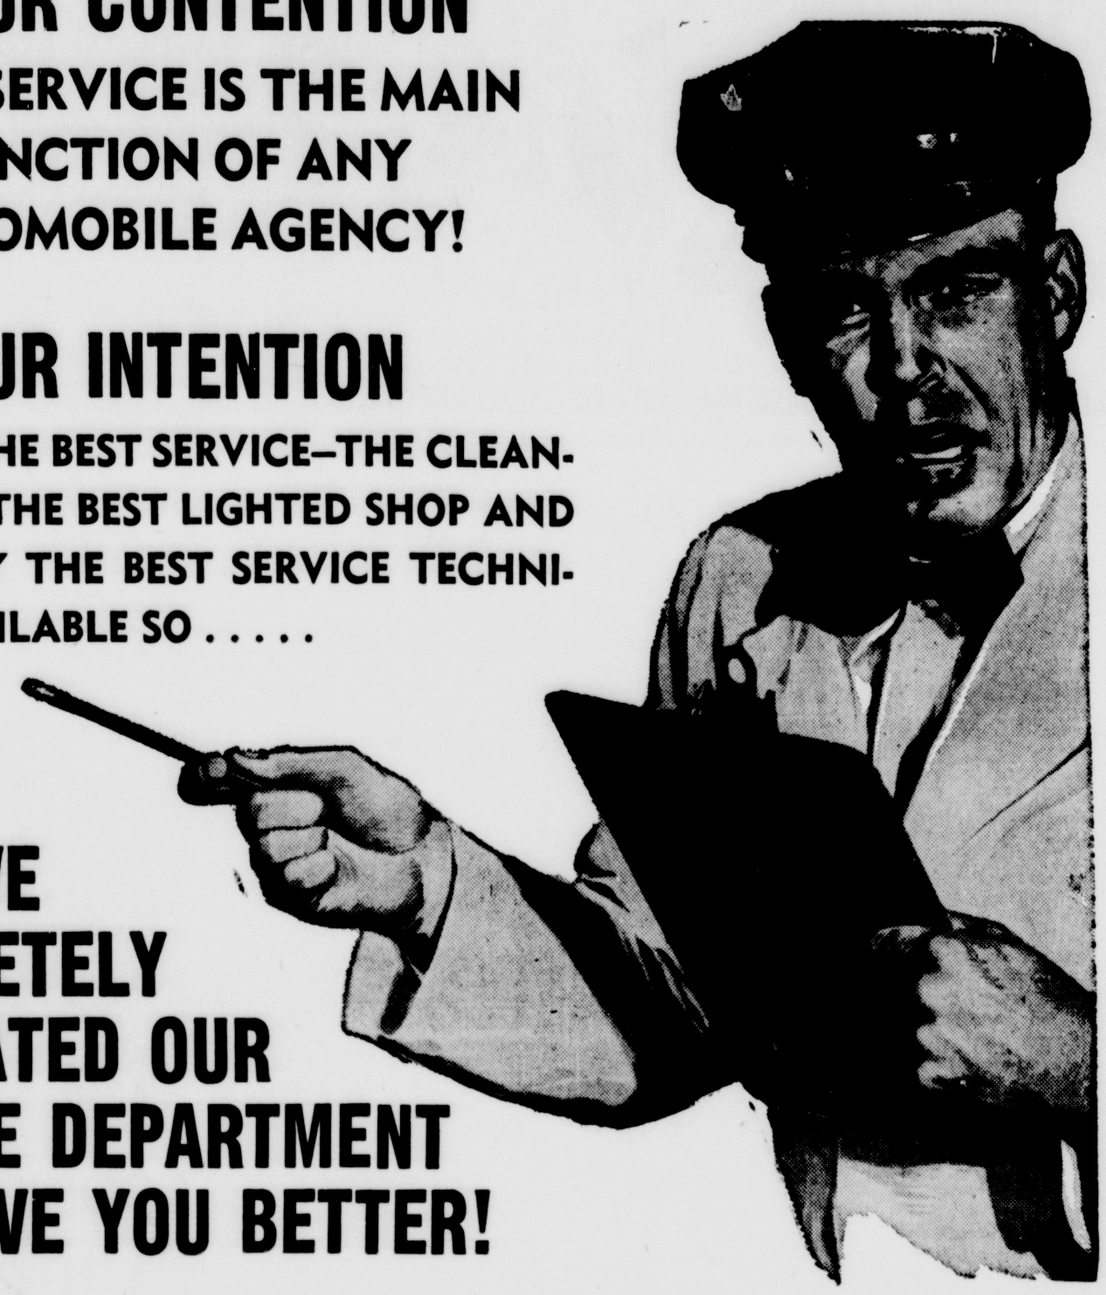

A. By adding a teaspoon of black enamel to each quart of white enamel paint.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You will never print this letter but writing it may be an outlet for me, and heaven knows I need it.

The person who wrote to say psychiatry is a racket is so right. I can verify it from personal experience.

We decided our daughter needed some outside guidance. She was moody and hard to deal with. So we put her into analysis. That was four years ago. Her therapy has transformed a typical teen-age problem child into an impossible teen-age monster. And to top it all off, it is costing us a fortune.

She simply loves the sessions with her analyst. She never asks us about anything. She discusses everything with him. This girl will never be able to marry because no husband would tolerate her attachment to the doctor.

I'm sure she is trapped for life. And so are we. I regret the day we started with psychiatry. Okay, now you can throw this letter way. — HAD IT FROM THE HEADSHRINKERS.

Dear Had It: You may feel trapped but your daughter apparently feels fine. She has found someone with whom she can communicate — and you should be grateful. It is obvious that she never was able to communicate with either of her parents.

Instead of fighting her therapy, you should support it — not only for her sake, but for yours.

Bouncing Check

Dear Ann: A close relative gave our child a $25 check for confirmation. The check bounced. Stamped across the face of it was "insufficient funds."

This relative is well-to-do and we can't understand why the check didn't clear. It doesn't seem possible that she doesn't have $25 in the bank.

My husband says we should say nothing and let the matter drop. I don't agree with him. Would it be in bad taste to send the check back to the relative? Or should I talk with someone at the bank about it?

Please advise. This is a sticky one. — DILEMMA.

Dear Dilemma: Put the check through a second time, with a note asking if the bank was in error. Banks seldom make mistakes but they are not infallible. It is possible your relative changed banks and intentionally allowed this account to be depleted.

Out Of Good Deeds

Dear Ann: This letter is to your "medical spy" who never has been involved in a lawsuit arising from a "Good Samaritan" deed. Well, I have.

I am a doctor who spent the better part of a night saving the lives of four drunks who were involved in a serious automobile accident. My thanks came three weeks later when their attorneys charged me with neglect.

Besides the night's sleep, I lost several hours securing records to prove my innocence. I then spent many anxious days preparing my own defense. Added to this was the notoriety and public suspicion even though the charge against me was false.

It may be true that 11 states now have "Good Samaritan" laws but when I drive into a new state from now on, I'm going to be too busy following road signs to remember whether that state happens to be one of the 11. I'd rather avoid the whole mess by minding my own business. — OUT OF CHEEKS TO TURN.

Dear Out: Thanks for your letter. Maybe medical societies and bar associations ought to consider "Good Samaritan" laws for the other 39?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Council Airs Rogers Hall Rental Policy

ROGERS — Discussion on the availability of the Community Hall to all organizations was held at a meeting of Council Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Williamson, in a letter to village officials, asked about renting the hall for auction sales, and the policy on renting the hall was reviewed.

Whether or not there were restrictions was discussed and whether the hall should be rented on a "first come" basis was debated. Action on policy was tabled until the January meeting.

Marshal Keith Cope requested a red blinker emergency light for his auto, and action was tabled until a special meeting Dec. 28 when final business for 1962 will be discussed.

It was reported a Christmas tree has been donated by Floyd Hill and will be erected in front of the Community Hall.

WELDON SPRING, Mo. (AP) —Ted Mertes of Columbis Station, Lorain County, Ohio, has been named top amateur handler in the 1962 English Springer Spaniel National Championship Stake. He handled his own dog, Saighton's Mertes, to top 14 others in amateur competition.

U.S. Files Brief In Tax Struggle With Amish Pair

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The federal government has filed a brief in U.S. District Court in its Socoal Security tax struggle with an Amish couple from Lawrence County.

Counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Y. Byler has until Dec. 12 to file his brief in preparation for a hearing set for Dec. 17 before Judge Rabe F. Marsh. The government filed its brief Monday.

The hearing is on a government motion to dismiss the Bylers' suit asking for exemption from paying Social Security tax and compensation for three plow horses seized from the Bylers in May 1961.

The government contends the Bylers, of New Wilmington, failed to show in their suit legal grounds for exemption from the tax. The Amish contend they do not believe in public welfare of any kind. They also object to Social Security as an insurance plan.

Lack Of Sponsor Cited

Board Refuses To Rent MA For Clark Race Hop

An application from a Pittsburgh organization to rent Memorial Auditorium for a record hop and show was turned down Monday night by the Board of Education.

The chief objections appeared to be the lack of a local sponsor and the problem of chaperones.

A motion by Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop to rent the building to Entertainment Unlimited of Pittsburgh on Friday, Dec. 28, for the dance featuring Clark Race, KDKA radio and television personality, died for the lack of a second.

After the motion was declared dead, Mrs. Dunlop commented such an affair could be a good thing because many young people are interested in record hops featuring well - known disc jockeys. However, she admitted the problem of the dance being properly chaperoned also bothered her.

Board members pointed out all proceeds from the affair would go out of town. The Pittsburgh organization in its application said the admission fee would be $1.

Three other rentals were approved.

The Lincoln Home and School Association was given permission to use the school gym for a series of dancing lessons on Jan. 23, Jan. 30 and Feb. 6, 13 and 20 for custodial fees only.

The Tri - State Civic Music Association was authorized use of Westgate auditorium on Jan. 20 for its second concert at a fee of $50 and the Oakland Free Methodist Church was given permission to use the same facility on Feb. 9 for a youth rally. The fee will be $20.

The board also voted to pay $189 for membership in the Ohio School Boards Association but decided not to subscribe to the national organization's journal.

It also approved the purchase of a new scoreboard for Memorial Auditorium. Supt. Ralph W. Betts said the purchase has been cleared with a state examiner for legality.

Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, advised the board the examiner is expected to begin an audit of school books next week.

The routine audit, conducted every two years, is expected to take about two months, she said.

Mrs. Dunlop, official delegate to the OSBA's annual meeting last month in Columbus, gave a lengthy report on the three - day session.

Fire Hits Laundry

Wellsville Land Legislation Due

Legislation authorizing the Board of Control to seek bids for a parcel of ground along the Ohio River near the sewage disposal plant will be considered by Wellsville City Council tonight at 7:30.

Angelo Georgetti, owner of the Georgetti River Rail Terminal, is seeking to buy the ground for an expansion project. He presently leases the ground but informed council at its last meeting he must own the land in order to obtain further financing for expansion.

Council also will act on legislation authorizing a petition be presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission to intervene in field hearings being held on the proposed merger of the New York Central and Pennsyvania Railroads.

No further action has been mapped other than to present the petition to intervene. This would allow anyone opposing the merger to prepare a case and present it to the ICC.

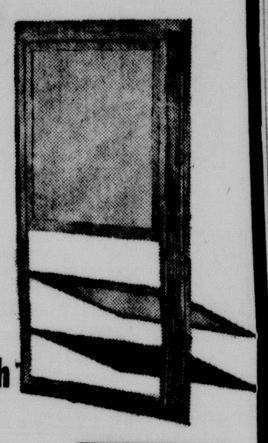

Salem Woman Talks For Lisbon Services

LISBON — Mrs. Harold Deitch of Salem was guest speaker at Sunday morning worship yesterday at the First Christian Church, appearing at the annual Women's Day program arranged by the Christian Women's Fellowship.

Her topic was "In Danger of Living." Also assisting in the services were: Mrs. Donald Carman, Mrs. Richard Walton, Miss Meretta Ikirt, Mrs. Raymond Moore, Mrs. Edgar Kirk and Miss Goldie Carlisle.

Mrs. Deitch is the wife of the Rev. Harold Deitch, minister of the First Christian Church of Salem.

Junior Editors Quiz on CLOWNS

QUESTION: What is the story of clowns?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The ancestors of clowns were actors in Greek and Roman days who wore padded clothes, were baldheaded and acted stupidly to amuse the audience. Kings of many countries made a habit of having gay entertainers, such as the jester whom we show, with his cap and bells. These "fools" were often very smart and held their position in the king's household by sharp wits as well as by silly jokes. The famous character of pantomine, "Harlequin," with his traditional costume covered with large diamond-shaped blocks of color, began to be seen in Italy in the 1500's and paved the way for the appearance of the true clown. Joseph Grimaldi, the original of the circus clown, was the one who started the tradition of painting the face white. His nickname Joey became so famous that circus clowns are often called Joeys. Clowns provide relief between the daring acts of the circus. They are always trying to do impossible things; the regular performer succeeds in what he attempts; the clown fails, which is one of the main reasons why he is funny.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Each clown has his special "face," or way of making up to make himself look funny. Make a drawing to give your own idea of what would be a funny face.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Please give me some tips on the cleaning of jewelry.

A. A teaspoon of ammonia, added to a cup of water, and applied with a clean cloth, will clean gold and silver jewelry. Crystal beads strung on a chain that has tarnished may be renewed by placing in a wide-mouthed jar half-filled with warm mild suds to which a teaspoon of baking soda has been added. Shake occasionally, then dry in jewelers sawdust.

Q. How can I improve the appearance of black material when laundering?

A. Whether it is silk, cotton, or wool, if the black material is rinsed in deep bluing water, this will improve the appearance and the color.

Q. How can I boil an egg that is cracked?

A. Add a little vinegar to the water that is used for the boiling, and the white of the egg will not boil out.

Q. How can I prevent white enamel from turning yellow later?

A. By adding a teaspoon of black enamel to each quart of white enamel paint.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You will never print this letter but writing it may be an outlet for me, and heaven knows I need it.

The person who wrote to say psychiatry is a racket is so right. I can verify it from personal experience.

We decided our daughter needed some outside guidance. She was moody and hard to deal with. So we put her into analysis. That was four years ago. Her therapy has transformed a typical teen-age problem child into an impossible teen-age monster. And to top it all off, it is costing us a fortune.

She simply loves the sessions with her analyst. She never asks us about anything. She discusses everything with him. This girl will never be able to marry because no husband would tolerate her attachment to the doctor.

I'm sure she is trapped for life. And so are we. I regret the day we started with psychiatry. Okay, now you can throw this letter way. — HAD IT FROM THE HEADSHRINKERS.

Dear Had It: You may feel trapped but your daughter apparently feels fine. She has found someone with whom she can communicate — and you should be grateful. It is obvious that she never was able to communicate with either of her parents.

Instead of fighting her therapy, you should support it — not only for her sake, but for yours.

Bouncing Check

Dear Ann: A close relative gave our child a $25 check for confirmation. The check bounced. Stamped across the face of it was "insufficient funds."

This relative is well-to-do and we can't understand why the check didn't clear. It doesn't seem possible that she doesn't have $25 in the bank.

My husband says we should say nothing and let the matter drop. I don't agree with him. Would it be in bad taste to send the check back to the relative? Or should I talk with someone at the bank about it?

Please advise. This is a sticky one. — DILEMMA.

Dear Dilemma: Put the check through a second time, with a note asking if the bank was in error. Banks seldom make mistakes but they are not infallible. It is possible your relative changed banks and intentionally allowed this account to be depleted.

Out Of Good Deeds

Dear Ann: This letter is to your "medical spy" who never has been involved in a lawsuit arising from a "Good Samaritan" deed. Well, I have.

I am a doctor who spent the better part of a night saving the lives of four drunks who were involved in a serious automobile accident. My thanks came three weeks later when their attorneys charged me with neglect.

Besides the night's sleep, I lost several hours securing records to prove my innocence. I then spent many anxious days preparing my own defense. Added to this was the notoriety and public suspicion even though the charge against me was false.

It may be true that 11 states now have "Good Samaritan" laws but when I drive into a new state from now on, I'm going to be too busy following road signs to remember whether that state happens to be one of the 11. I'd rather avoid the whole mess by minding my own business. — OUT OF CHEEKS TO TURN.

Dear Out: Thanks for your letter. Maybe medical societies and bar associations ought to consider "Good Samaritan" laws for the other 39?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Council Airs Rogers Hall Rental Policy

ROGERS — Discussion on the availability of the Community Hall to all organizations was held at a meeting of Council Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Williamson, in a letter to village officials, asked about renting the hall for auction sales, and the policy on renting the hall was reviewed.

Whether or not there were restrictions was discussed and whether the hall should be rented on a "first come" basis was debated. Action on policy was tabled until the January meeting.

Mayor Robert McCreary announced a yellow blinker caution signal is to be installed by state road crews Saturday on Route 7 near the Maple St. intersection.

Marshal Keith Cope requested a red blinker emergency light for his auto, and action was tabled until a special meeting Dec. 28 when final business for 1962 will be discussed.

It was reported a Christmas tree has been donated by Floyd Hill and will be erected in front of the Community Hall.

U.S. Files Brief In Tax Struggle With Amish Pair

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The federal government has filed a brief in U.S. District Court in its Socoal Security tax struggle with an Amish couple from Lawrence County.

Counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Y. Byler has until Dec. 12 to file his brief in preparation for a hearing set for Dec. 17 before Judge Rabe F. Marsh. The government filed its brief Monday.

The hearing is on a government motion to dismiss the Bylers' suit asking for exemption from paying Social Security tax and compensation for three plow horses seized from the Bylers in May 1961.

The government contends the Bylers, of New Wilmington, failed to show in their suit legal grounds for exemption from the tax. The Amish contend they do not believe in public welfare of any kind. They also object to Social Security as an insurance plan.

Board Refuses To Rent MA For Clark Race Hop

An application from a Pittsburgh organization to rent Memorial Auditorium for a record hop and show was turned down Monday night by the Board of Education.

The chief objections appeared to be the lack of a local sponsor and the problem of chaperones.

A motion by Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop to rent the building to Entertainment Unlimited of Pittsburgh on Friday, Dec. 28, for the dance featuring Clark Race, KDKA radio and television personality, died for the lack of a second.

After the motion was declared dead, Mrs. Dunlop commented such an affair could be a good thing because many young people are interested in record hops featuring well - known disc jockeys. However, she admitted the problem of the dance being properly chaperoned also bothered her.

Board members pointed out all proceeds from the affair would go out of town. The Pittsburgh organization in its application said the admission fee would be $1.

The rental fee for Memorial Auditorium for a commercial event with an admission charge is $90.

Three other rentals were approved.

The Lincoln Home and School Association was given permission to use the school gym for a series of dancing lessons on Jan. 23, Jan. 30 and Feb. 6, 13 and 20 for custodial fees only.

The Tri - State Civic Music Association was authorized use of Westgate auditorium on Jan. 20 for its second concert at a fee of $50 and the Oakland Free Methodist Church was given permission to use the same facility on Feb. 9 for a youth rally. The fee will be $20.

The board also voted to pay $189 for membership in the Ohio School Boards Association but decided not to subscribe to the national organization's journal.

It also approved the purchase of a new scoreboard for Memorial Auditorium. Supt. Ralph W. Betts said the purchase has been cleared with a state examiner for legality.

Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, advised the board the examiner is expected to begin an audit of school books next week.

The routine audit, conducted every two years, is expected to take about two months, she said.

Mrs. Dunlop, official delegate to the OSBA's annual meeting last month in Columbus, gave a lengthy report on the three - day session.

Wellsville Land Legislation Due

Legislation authorizing the Board of Control to seek bids for a parcel of ground along the Ohio River near the sewage disposal plant will be considered by Wellsville City Council tonight at 7:30.

Angelo Georgetti, owner of the Georgetti River Rail Terminal, is seeking to buy the ground for an expansion project. He presently leases the ground but informed council at its last meeting he must own the land in order to obtain further financing for expansion.

Council also will act on legislation authorizing a petition be presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission to intervene in field hearings being held on the proposed merger of the New York Central and Pennsyvania Railroads.

No further action has been mapped other than to present the petition to intervene. This would allow anyone opposing the merger to prepare a case and present it to the ICC.
